THE SUE RYDER FOUNDATION

Charity Registration No.: 222291

FOUNDER:
LADY RYDER
OF WARSAW
CMG, OBE

The Sue Ryder Foundation was established by Lady Ryder during the post-war years after she had been doing social relief work on the Continent. Its purpose was, and is, the relief of suffering on a wide scale by means of personal service to the sick and disabled everywhere, irrespective of race, religion or age, and thus serves as a Living Memorial of all those who suffered or died in the two World Wars and to those who undergo persecution or die in defence of human values today.

At present there are 24 Sue Ryder Homes in Britain already open or in the course of being established with many more, including medical teams, in countries overseas. In 1987, the first Home was opened in Scotland at Binny House, Ecclesmachan, West Lothian and a further one was opened at Marchmont, Greenlaw, Berwickshire in 1989. Hopefully, still more will be established. The patients cared for by the Foundation include those with cancer, both convalescent and terminal, those with Huntingtons Chorea, the physically handicapped, the elderly, and the mentally ill. Domiciliary visiting is also undertaken from some Homes. Help is desperately needed, whether by way of a legacy, deed of covenant or donation in finance or kind. Also, the Foundation will be pleased to advise companies whose employees wish to contribute via the Give As You Earn Scheme.

II

FROM THE RESTORATION OF THE HIERARCHY IN 1878
TO THE PRESENT DAY

The Apostolic Letter Ex supremo of Leo XIII, 4th March 1878, divided Scotland into the Province of St. Andrews and Edinburgh with a Metropolitan See and four Suffragan Sees of Aberdeen, Argyll and the Isles, Dunkeld, and Galloway; and the Archdiocese of Glasgow directly subject to the Holy See. The Apostolic Constitutions Maxime Interest and Dominici gregis of Pius XII, 25th May 1947, erected the Archdiocese of Glasgow into a Province, with a Metropolitan See and two Suffragan Sees of Motherwell and Paisley.

A pamphlet entitled Diocesan Map of Scotland, showing maps of each of the dioceses of Scotland, was published by The Mercat Cross in 1953.

THE PROVINCE OF
ST. ANDREWS AND EDINBURGH

The Province of St. Andrews and Edinburgh consists of the Archdiocese of St. Andrews and Edinburgh and the four Suffragan Sees of Aberdeen, Argyll and the Isles, Dunkeld, and Galloway.

ARCHDIOCESE OF ST. ANDREWS AND EDINBURGH

Comprising: the entire Lothian and Borders Regions; in Fife Region, the districts of Dunfermline (except the parish of High Valleyfield), Kirkcaldy, and North-East Fife south of the River Eden; in Central Region, Falkirk District and those parts of Stirling District situated in the geographical county of Stirlingshire; and, in Strathclyde Region, the Banton, Kilsyth and Queenzieburn areas of Cumbernauld and Kilsyth District, and the Lennoxtown, Milton of Campsie and Torrance areas of Strathkelvin District.

*The bishops associated with Kinrimumd, St. Andrews, had assumed ecclesiastical primacy in Scotland from Dunkeld by the beginning of the tenth century. The last of the Celtic bishops died in 1093; the line of the medieval bishops began in 1109 but the Church and the bishopric were not securely established until 1144. The independence of the Scottish Church from the metropolitan claims of the archbishops of York was established by Celestine III with the Bull Cum universi, 13th March 1192. St. Andrews was erected a Metropolitan See by Sixtus IV, 14th August 1472. The See was vacant from the execution at Stirling on 6th April 1571 of John Hamilton (1547-1571) until the restoration of the hierarchy in 1878.*

In 1553 James Hamilton was appointed bishop but he conformed to the reformed Church after 1560 and the See was vacant until the restoration of the hierarchy in 1878.

The See of The Isles was originally conjoined with Man (or Sodor). The medieval bishops from × 1079 recognised the metropolitan authority of York until 1153 when Rome made them subject to Trondheim, Norway, but this was only nominal after 1349. Man and The Isles were separated from 1387. The Isles became a suffragan of St. Andrews in 1472. The Bishops' Conference of Scotland is the permanently constituted assembly of the Bishops of Scotland. To promote its work the Conference establishes various agencies, the most important of which are termed Commissions. Priests other than bishops, religious and lay people are included in the membership of these agencies. The agencies have an advisory function in relation to the Conference; each, according to its remit, may also have an executive function; and, between meetings of the Conference, an agency may respond to an immediate problem by taking decisions or issuing a statement in its own name.

THE COMMISSIONS

It is the common function of all the Commissions to advise the Bishops' Conference and to promote development within the area of concern of the remit given to each. The Conference appoints a Bishop President and all members of each Commission. Members of secretariats, committees etc. which assist the work of a Commission are not necessarily members of the Commission itself.

Christian Doctrine and Unity

This Commission comprises a Doctrine Section and a Unity Section, the latter being an extension of the former and including other priests, religious and laity who have had wide experience in ecumenical affairs. The remit of the Commission includes Catholic Doctrine, Moral Theology and Canon Law; ecumenical relations with other Christian Churches and dialogue with those of other faiths and with unbelievers.

Cf. Canons 515 § 3, 1256 and 1284 § 2, n.2, of the Code of Canon Law. This list, introduced in the issue of 1988 as a preliminary list, has been expanded and amplified by the Scottish Catholic Heritage Commission, through its researcher, Miss Mary McHugh. It has not yet been possible to identify the architects of some buildings. PERSONAL PRELATURE OF THE HOLY CROSS AND OPUS DEI

Personal Prelatures are juridical structures of a secular character governed by a Prelate and erected by the Holy See to carry out specific pastoral or missionary activities. The general norms on personal Prelatures are contained in the Code of Canon Law—canons 294 to 297. Each has its own statutes approved by the Holy See. Opus Dei is a personal Prelature, international in its scope, which aims to spread throughout all sectors of society a deep awareness of the universal call to sanctity and apostolate in the fulfilment of one's ordinary profession or job. It is formed by a Prelate with his own clergy and by lay people, men and women, who in virtue of a divine vocation freely join the Prelature.

OBITUARIES—1989

Very Rev. Robert Canon Douglas—3rd November, 1988

The Christians of the early Church were great realists. They did not mourn much for their dead. Over them they erected a simple memorial which read: he has now completed his Baptism. I find it comforting to reflect that this happened to Robert Douglas on Thursday 3rd November, 1988, when he passed to his eternal reward at St. Anne's Convent, Musselburgh in his 82nd year and the 59th of his Priesthood. Now had come to full bloom those seeds of Baptism implanted in him 80 odd years ago back in his beloved home parish of Holy Cross, Dixon Avenue, Glasgow.

Those seeds had already come a long way in his long life, especially since he heard the Master's call: 'Follow me' were Christ's first words to Peter; they were also the last words on the sea shore shortly before he left the Apostles. Obviously, then they contained everything. Peter didn't know that, when he heard them, he had to discover their full meaning as the events of life unfolded. When Robert Douglas heard and answered the call: "Follow me," he did not know either where it would take him.

Every priest shudders at the thought of having his praises sung and would much rather prefer that a simple appeal be made to his people to remember him always in their prayers. More than any other, Canon Douglas would heartily endorse such an appeal for prayer rather than praise.

He was born at 106 Dixon Avenue, Crosshill, Glasgow on 26th January, 1906. In Holy Cross parish he was baptised, confirmed and made his First Holy Communion. He received his early education at Holy Cross Primary School. Later he attended St. Aloysius' College, and completed his secondary education at Blairs College; whence he went to the Major Seminary, Propaganda Fide, Rome, where students from many nations trained for the missionary priesthood. On the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, 8th December, 1929, in response to the Lord's invitation, "Follow me", he achieved his ultimate goal—ordination to the Priesthood. When he returned home in 1930 he was appointed assistant priest at St. Bride's, Cambuslang, where he would witness to his priestly ministry for 20 years.

In 1949 he was appointed to Halfway, and acquired a house there in 1950, to establish a new parochial community known as St. Cadoc's.

Halfway was a cut off from St. Bride's, Cambuslang. He already knew his new parishioners intimately over 20 years; his aim now was to make them aware that they were a parish in their own right. Their primary task was to build a new place of worship and with Father Douglas' drive and enthusiasm, they achieved their goal, and the beautiful church and adjoining presbytery in Rosebank Drive, Halfway, were formally opened in 1955—a fitting and lasting memorial to his and their sacrifice and dedication. For the next 14 years he worked assiduously with and for his people. He especially concentrated on the religious education of the children, and was elated when the new primary school of St. Cadoc's was opened and dedicated in the early 60's.

He was solicitous about catechising not only in his own parish, but for many years throughout the Diocese as a Religious Inspector. During this time he was also Diocesan Director for the Pontifical Mission Societies—a task for which he was well suited being an alumnus of 'Propaganda'.

In the 37th year of his priesthood he was elected to the Cathedral Chapter, in October 1963, an honour that gave great satisfaction particularly to his beloved people of St. Cadoc's. Two years later in December 1969 he was transferred to the long established parish of Holy Family, Mossend. This change for the Canon was, to say the least traumatic; he had spent 39 years of his priestly life in Cambuslang as assistant and parish priest, and was prepared to live out the rest of his life there. But he accepted this new appointment, perhaps not with the same enthusiasm as the previous two, after all he was now in his mid-sixties, but for him it was a challenge and the will of God.

The Holy Family Parish had celebrated its centenary the previous year, 1968. They were still exuberant about it all and it was with joy and ebullience that the people welcomed Canon Douglas to their centennial parish. For the next 11 years he fulfilled his role as their parish priest despite failing health that necessitated a prolonged period of hospitalisation. This illness and the passing years were taking their toll and he realised he was no longer able to give the service the parish deserved. He was now 74 years of age and so he reluctantly requested that he be allowed to retire. He did so in February, 1980 and went to spend his declining years in St. Anne's, Musselburgh.

Canon Douglas was a very humble, retiring person, who never sought the limelight. He was shy and not easy to get to know, but once known, he was a real and genuine friend. His faith was strong, nurtured and encouraged by a deeply religious father and mother, who made many sacrifices for the Church and gave the only two boys they had to the priesthood, the Canon and his brother, Bishop Edward Douglas of Botrys, first Bishop of Motherwell, who pre-deceased him by some 21 years.

That faith underpinned his trusting nature that never saw bad in anyone; in no way could he grasp deceit, suspicion or manipulation. He walked in a straight line giving his love especially to his parishioners in a straightforward frank manner.

I take this opportunity to thank the Sisters of Charity of St. Paul the Apostle of St. Anne's Convent who gave him such tender loving care in his final years, and among whom he died peacefully on 3rd November 1988. The funeral took place on the 5th November in the Holy Family Church, Mossend, when Bishop Devine was the principal celebrant at the Mass concelebrated by a host of priests and attended by many people from Cambuslang and Mossend in an overflow congregation.

Canon Robert Douglas, a man chosen from among men and ordained for all in the things that pertain to God, is buried among his confrères in St. Patrick's, New Stevenston.
May he rest in peace.

Rev. Francis Kiernan—20th November, 1988

On 20th November, 1988, the parishioners of St. Brendan's, Saltcoats, gathered, as usual, to celebrate the Feast of Christ the King, only to hear, in stunned silence and disbelief, that their parish priest, Father Francis Kiernan, apparently in good health, had died tragically during the night. The shock of his death stunned not only the community of Saltcoats, but his many friends, priests and lay people, throughout the diocese of Galloway and beyond.

Father Frank was born at Aughaga, Moyne, Co. Longford, Eire, in 1924. He studied at St. Mary's School, Moyne, from where he went to St. John's College, Waterford, to study for the priesthood. He was ordained by Bishop Daniel Cohalan of Waterford and Lismore, on 6th June, 1948, in the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, Waterford, for the diocese of Galloway.

His first appointment was to Kilbirnie, where he served as assistant to Canon O'Reilly, who, as the years took their toll, began to depend on him more and more. Frank was well able to do this, and spent a number of very fruitful years in this parish, where his untiring work was greatly appreciated.

From Kilbirnie he got his first appointment as parish priest, when he went to Millport on the Isle of Cumbrae. Apart from the summer holidays when many holidaymakers turned up for their annual break, Millport had a very small Catholic community, but it was not long before Father Kiernan became a well-known, respected and loved member of the whole local community, Catholics and non-Catholics alike. At Millport, he was able to enjoy the one passion of his life—golf—and he made many friends among the golfing fraternity of the area. Never a great golfer, Frank was always enthusiastic and hated to be beaten, a fact to which many of his friends will testify.

With the opening of the new parish of St. Paul's in Ayr, Frank set sail from Millport to take on the task of setting up a new community. This he did with great enthusiasm and, after a lot of hard work, great success.

His final appointment was to St. Brendan's, Saltcoats, back to an area which he knew well, from his days in Kilbirnie. A lasting memorial to him here lies in the sanctuary of the church, which he renovated and beautified and which is admired by all who see it.

A man of deep faith, he had a great devotion to Our Lady. In Kilbirnie he started the Legion of Mary, which has flourished ever since, and is the focal point for the Legion in North Ayrshire to this day. One of the high points of his year was his annual pilgrimage, in company with his friend, Canon Nicholas Murphy, and the parishioners of St. Brendan's and St. Mary's Saltcoats, to the Shrine of Our Lady at Knock. He looked forward to this each year and found it a great source of spiritual renewal in his life.

The Requiem Mass, celebrated by Father Kiernan's priest-nephew, whose ordination Frank had attended only a few months before, took place in St. Brendan's. The homily was given by Bishop Maurice Taylor, in which he thanked God for the work done by Father Kiernan in the diocese of Galloway in his own quiet way. He expressed the sympathy of the people of the diocese to Frank's relatives and friends present at the Mass. After Mass, the remains were taken to Ayr Cemetery where the body was laid to rest.

May he rest in peace.

Rev. John Fitzgibbon—20th November, 1988.

His exile in Scotland ended on September 27th 1987 when he returned to Ireland to take up residence in Merville, Co. Donegal. His earthly exile came to an end on Sunday November 20th 1988 when his Divine Master called him to his eternal home and when his mortal body was laid to rest in St. Peter's cemetery, Dalbeth, Glasgow.

Father Sean, the youngest of a family of six, consisting of four sisters, two of whom became nuns, and two brothers, was born to Mr. & Mrs. John Fitzgibbon, Newmarket, Co. Cork, on 9th May 1921. He attended the National school in his native village before going on to St. Colman's College, Fermoy, Co. Cork. In 1939 he entered St. Kieran's College, Kilkenny City, to train and study for the priesthood.

During his course in St. Kieran's, he opted for Glasgow and was adopted for the Archdiocese for which he was ordained by Most Rev. Patrick Collier, Bishop of Ossory, in St. Mary's Cathedral, Kilkenny on 10th June 1945. He was accompanied to Scotland by seven of his ordained class-fellows, from a class of thirty-six priests.

His first appointment, on his arrival in Glasgow was as a curate in St. Peter's, Partick, which he fondly remembered with great affection for the rest of his life. From St. Peter's in the West he went to St. Nicholas' parish in the East End of Glasgow in 1957. He was transferred in 1961 to the parish of Blessed John Ogilvie, Easterhouse, which later became St. John Ogilvie's, as Father Fitzgibbon was one of God's instruments leading to the canonization of the parish's Patron. With his great sense of duty to the sick and the housebound, practised by him in his early days in St. Peter's and the Western Infirmary, now in his priestly ministry in Easterhouse, an occurrence of great import to the Church in Scotland took place. It could be said that as a result of a miraculous event which culminated in the canonization of Blessed John Ogilvie.

In 1969 he received his first appointment as parish priest. He was commissioned to found the new parish of All Saints in Barmulloch. Here his dreams were fulfilled; he was parish priest; a great challenge was issued—from a "green field" to produce an organized parish with a worshipping community and build a church.

In two years he became the founder of the parish and the builder of the Church of All Saints. To his immense joy and satisfaction the new church was opened and dedicated on Hallowe'en 1971. Ten years later, he was transferred to St. Eunan's, Clydebank. There he continued with his spiritual and material building. He led those entrusted to his care to the worship of their Divine Master through his love of the Holy Mass, the administration of the Sacraments and his concern for the sick; and the parishioners' spiritual and social opportunities were increased in the building and possession of a beautiful St. Eunan's Hall which is a further memorial to this man of vision who was, in remarkable ways, God's instrument.

In Newmarket, his native village, his favourite song in boyhood days was "The Old Bog Road". In Newmarket on this side of the Irish Sea—he had a few sporting interests—his song was often a "Lament".

He enjoyed his priesthood. In parishes where he served he was much loved and revered. He mingled with everyone and had much time for the elderly and aged. His priesthood was a full and dedicated one. His motivation was his love of God. His friendship was loyal and lasting.

A parishioner of St. Eunan's writes: "Father Fitzgibbon was a man of many talents. His pastoral ministry was characterised by his kindness and generosity with his time and assistance. His jovial personality endeared him to all who knew him. He knew his parishioners well and was generally at the doorway of the church to greet each one as they entered. A witty wisecrack often brightened someone's day! This was a measure of the exuberance that was part of his nature, his love of life and that of his flock. Beneath this big-hearted and open exterior however, Father Fitzgibbon possessed that quality which was fundamental to his priestly character—an approachableness which was treasured by those who sought his counsel and who detected in his warmth of personality, that dedication which singled him out as a priest truly devoted to carrying out the work of his Master and Lord so faithfully".

There was widespread sorrow and regret at his unexpected death in Letterkenny Hospital, Co. Donegal on 20th November 1988. His funeral Mass was offered in All Saints Church, Barmulloch on 24th November 1988. Archbishop Winning, Bishop Renfrew and a large number of priests concelebrated the Requiem which was attended by many former parishioners from the various parishes in Glasgow and many of his close friends in and around Glasgow.

Canon Martin Quinlan, his boyhood and life-long friend lead the interment prayers in St. Peter's cemetery, Dalbeth.

In his own native language we pray: "Sunas Siorrai da anam i bfocair Na Maideanna Muire agus na Naomh Uile".—Eternal peace to his soul in the company of the Virgin Mary and All Saints.

Very Rev. James Canon Kilpatrick—4th January, 1989

The Kilpatrick family, with its Craigneuk and Motherwell roots, gave two of its sons to the Church. Both of these great priests rendered sterling service to the Church in the West of Scotland, each in his own way. Monsignor Sam died, in Dalmuir, having retired as Parish Priest of Christ the King, King's Park, Glasgow. He had spent most of his life as Secretary and Chancellor to the Archdiocese of Glasgow. His brother James was directed into a slightly different type of priestly service, the bulk of his years spent as a Professor and Procurator in St. Mary's College, Blairs, Aberdeen. Strangely enough, those of us who were privileged to know Canon James were in the habit of calling him "Sam", so that there could be some sort of confusion in the fact that the two priests in the one family were called "Sam". It is a strange thing that the tradition in Scottish Seminaries was to bestow nicknames on the various students, and sometimes these nicknames were based on elder brothers or other members of the family. Hence the origin of the two "Sams".

James Kilpatrick was born in 1912 into an excellent Catholic family for whom the Church was always a real dimension. He was the younger of the two boys who went on for the priesthood, entering St. Peter's College, Bearsden, as a 17-year old in 1929. He was ordained by Bishop Graham on June 29th, 1935 and was appointed to Holy Family, Mossend, where he remained for a short year before being appointed in 1937 to St. Mary's College, Blairs, to teach mathematics. He was to remain in Blairs for all of 20 years.

Like the rest of the Kilpatrick family he had been brought up to be meticulous and thorough about any work he was given to do. This was reflected in his teaching of mathematics in Blairs. Generations of students will remember him, not necessarily for the brilliance of his teaching so much as its thoroughness and in the wry and comical way he directed his classes. They still tell the story of the boy who played a joke on Sam by hiding in the teacher's box desk before class started. When Sam came in to the room he noted, of course, that the boy was hiding in the desk but without admitting that he knew he was there, he proceeded with the class, intermittently giving the boy a gentle kick under the desk. In this way the joke backfired and the class was delighted with the nonchalant performance of the Professor. On other occasions he would be seen going along the long corridors of Blairs College preceded by his dog. The boys would notice the dog coming and would cry out "Here comes Sammy's dog". A voice would then ring along the corridors, "And here comes Sammy". Everyone liked Sam, and everyone was somewhat bemused and amused by his quaint manner. But he was kind and generous, thoughtful and compassionate towards those he taught and was immensely popular amongst the staff of 16 priests at times when there were changes in the Blairs staff which demanded a certain loyalty from the staff member. He was in Blairs, of course, during the period of the War when frequent visits to the basement which had been converted to an air-raid shelter were necessary and when food was short and the College was full not only of those doing their school work but also of those who were studying philosophy.

James was an immensely practical man and was constantly taking motor cars to pieces and doing all sorts of repairs, usually for other people, around the huge Blairs property and estate. He was meticulous about this D.I.Y. work as he was about everything else, particularly about his regularity in prayer and his tremendously devotional approach to the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

His besetting passion in these years was fishing and he could be seen in his free periods setting off for the River Dee, rod under his arm. He had a great skill in salmon fishing and had many friends on the river who taught him the tricks of the trade. But here again his self-control was apparent. I remember him coming into dinner in the boys' refectory from having been down at the river. I asked him how had things gone and had he caught anything and he replied, "Yes, for half an hour I played what must have been a 32-pounder." "Where is it?" I asked, "Oh," was the reply, "I had him almost on the bank when the bell sounded for dinner so I realised that the fish had won and I cut the line and he's now free". To anyone who has ever salmon-fished this is an example of immense self-control and self-control is a virtue he possessed to its fullest.

For the last five or six years of his time in Blairs he was made procurator of the College. This entailed the running of the farm as a sort of Manager and the supervision of the various complications of the 13 tenanted farms and crofts around the 1600 acre estate of Blairs. This task he did with his customary thoroughness. When other priests would be hearing Confessions in their parishes on a Saturday evening James would be seen working out butter fat content and milk yield of the various Ayrshire pedigree beasts which he built up into a magnificent herd in Blairs. The 150 acre home-farm was his joy and he worked out crop rotations and dealt with an ever-growing herd as well as with poultry and pigs which began to make the farm a paying proposition and useful for the feeding of the students whose numbers had risen to about 200. He gave himself entirely to Blairs and to work for the Bishops. He was rarely away from the College but always on duty in a quiet unobtrusive way and always rejoiced in the company of the large staff and was prominent in the social life of the staff at that time. Particularly memorable are his brilliant parodies, mostly on Gilbert and Sullivan melodies which he delighted in singing in his strange little voice during staff concerts. It would take too long to quote from these many humorous parodies but one I recall very well from the Gondoliers. It was at the time that priests were forbidden to go to cinemas or theatres and in the course of this parody James had all the priests doing nothing in their spare time but playing poker. "When there's nothing else to do, they simply do each other!"

After 20 years in Blairs, it was time for Sam to return to the Mission in his Diocese of Motherwell. We all wondered how he would adapt to Mission life as often the seminary professors find the transition from the scholastic to the practical life in a parish very difficult. Add to this the fact that James was shy and retiring. But he did adapt in his quiet way. To begin with, he was sent as Administrator to the parish of St. Augustine, Langloan, where he remained for a year before being appointed Parish Priest of St. Columba's, Viewpark, Uddingston. These appointments allowed him slowly to adapt to this new life on the mission. After about a year in Uddingston he was moved to the new parish of St. Bride's, East Kilbride, where he was to remain for 12 years. The architectural concept of St. Bride's was quite brilliant and, rightly enough, the church gained many prizes for its architect, Mr. Jack Coia. But architectural gems, particularly prize-winning gems, are not always the most practical of buildings to live in and to worship in. I remember him telling me once that he forecast that there would never be a time when there were not tradesmen working in St. Bride's. This prophetic view has proved to be quite true in subsequent years. Money had to be poured out on repairs and renewals to the church and this worried James very much in those difficult years in East Kilbride. The community there was building up and particularly in the sphere of education James did a great deal to uphold the Church's views on education. He sat on many Committees and was greatly admired for his diligence, for his "apostolate of the presence" at all meetings and for his wise counsel to those involved in building up the educational scene in this new housing estate in the world of tomorrow. He continued his fishing as far as possible and made many a happy journey to Blairs to his beloved River Dee to fish and to reflect on his new life. Another besetting passion at this time was chess. Maybe this got him away from his various problems into a realm of recreation which taxed his mathematical prowess and satisfied his wish to be free from the many practical troubles connected with the church building.

After 12 years in East Kilbride he was faced with a dilemma. Bishop Thomson came to see him one day and asked him if he would like to move on to another parish. This left the faithful and obedient priest with a great dilemma. I remember him 'phoning me and saying "What should I do? If I move, it would seem I was running away from some sort of problem. If I remain I would seem to be in some way unwilling to do what I am told by the Bishop for if the Bishop asks me to do something I'm sure he must have some reason." I remember replying, "Sam, Sam, do what the Bishop asks you and all will be well." I knew well that this would be the solution to Sam's problem as he was then, as always, at the total disposition of Church and Bishop.

There then began the last of the missionary appointments he was to fill, namely, Parish Priest of St. Mark's, Rutherglen. Again, this was a happy time in his life. The parish lies just over the edge from the Glasgow Archdiocese and he befriended not only his own priests in Motherwell but also some of the priests in the outlying parishes of Castlemilk in Glasgow. These were happy days for him although after a few years it became apparent that his mind was failing a little, or rather not so much his mind as his memory. He remained in St. Mark's for seven years and then was prevailed upon, because of his failing memory, to retire to a little house in the parish in Blairbeth Road. At this point the greatest of praise must be given to Mary, his housekeeper, who saw him through difficult years and was with him till his death in January, 1989. He had been appointed an Honorary Canon of the Diocese of Motherwell in 1969 and a Canon of the Cathedral Chapter in 1974, and I think all of us can remember with immense joy the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of his priesthood in 1985 when he had already retired but when he returned in some sort of triumph to St. Mark's, Rutherglen, to celebrate this great occasion. Because of his lack of memory his speech did not have that brilliance and pawky wit which we would expect in it but all of us understood that here was a man failing not so much in body as in memory. But he knew well enough that his memory had gone and he looked upon it as a sort of release permitting him to live in the now moment and not to have regrets about the past but to concentrate all his prayer and his mind in what was going on at the moment. But always there was that beautiful smile which turned out to be a smile of complete resignation to the will of God. Just as he had been ever faithful to whatever the Church asked him to do, in the deep recess of his mind he was being faithful to the will of God to the very end.

He died after a comparatively short illness in his home on 4th January, 1989, and was laid to rest on the following Saturday, 7th January, in St. Patrick's cemetery, New Stevenston, after Pontifical Requiem Mass in St. Mark's, Rutherglen.

Anyone who knew James Kilpatrick—"wee Sammy"—cannot but remember him with a wry smile. We have all learned from his utter fidelity to duty and his immense devotion to the will of God and an equally immense love of the Mother of God. Never a night passed but he said the Rosary, usually with his brother Bernard and sister-in-law Kitty who seemed to be near him wherever he was. The tender Mother of God appealed to this genial lovable priest who was never anything but a priest and whose loyalty to the Church ranks him amongst one of the greatest priests of his time. He will be remembered by the simple and great alike. Amongst his friends he numbered all the Bishops who used him often as a sounding post and an adviser. But never would he capitalise on the fact that he moved amongst the great Churchmen of Scotland for he was founded and reared in a simplicity of spirit which is the real sign of a great man. May his dear soul rest in peace.

Rev. John McLaren—1st February, 1989

The vast crowd in St. Catherine's Church that sad Saturday morning of the funeral of Father John McLaren, and the enormous numbers who received Holy Communion in his memory for the repose of his soul bear more eloquent testimony than any words of mine to the esteem in which he was held. At his Requiem Mass which was led by Bishop Renfrew in the absence of His Grace, there were people present from all walks of life and from many parishes, notably those in which he had served with a certain style. They came from Our Lady of Fatima, St. Michael's Dumbarton, St. James's Crookston, where he was a much loved curate; from All Saints Barmulloch, St. Teresa's Possilpark and St. Catherine's. In these latter three he spent only a few short years each. Above all, however, they came from his beloved Croy. Will anyone who was present ever forget the final processional flourish of his funeral cortege between Croy and the little cemetery of Kilsyth where he was laid finally to rest? It was eminently fitting that there should have been such a crowd at the grave-side in spite of the screeching wind and the hideous February rain. John, you see, made a habit of going to nearly all his brother priests' funerals, which were the scenes for him as he waited for the remains to arrive of fond and sometimes amusing reminiscence.

John started his priestly life in Our Lady of Fatima July 1954; St. Michael's Dumbarton in 1970; St. James's in 1976. He became PP in All Saints in 1982, St. Teresa's in 1984; finally St. Catherine's in September 1987, and there he died on February 1989 twelve days after his 59th birthday. He was a real Crojan and proud of it—from that part of the famous Catholic village known to insiders as Smithstone, and Croy was very proud of him.

His academic career was a very orthodox one. His first school was Holy Cross, Croy, where he went in 1935. In 1942 he attended St. Ninian's Kirkintilloch where he spent two years until at the age of 14 on 24 August 1944, went to Blairs College in the same railway carriage as 13 other boys. Of these 14 boys John was the only one who eventually became a priest. From Blairs he went to the recently opened St. Peter's College, Cardross, from where he was presented and accepted for ordination by Archbishop Campbell on 29 June 1954.

John received many gifts from God. He was handsome and athletic and most acceptable to his peers; always ready with a story or anxious to share a joke; a footballer of great ability and vision, and passing fair in any game he liked to try. He had a fine voice, and his taste in music was no less Catholic than his faith. He had a special predilection for Plain Chant and all good Church music.

John had a great love of his fellow priests and their company, and I can't help feeling that this was firmly rooted in the love he received from childhood, and returned in kind at home in his beloved Croy.

Though he is outlived by his first PP, he was pre-deceased by both his parents, and is survived by his brother Jim and family.

I once heard an opera expert giving his opinion about the relative merits of the two great Italian tenors Caruso and Gigli. He said that Caruso was the greater of the two, because he kept within the actual music itself, whereas Gigli was inclined to produce some of his undoubted dramatic effect outside of the score as it were. If this is true, we might hazard the view that John McLaren was a kind of clerical Caruso, because the essential achievements of his life were realised within the reality of the pastoral priesthood. He loved God and Our Lady and people because of this. Some priests do their best work almost in spite of the apparently narrow confines of the pastoral priesthood. John McLaren was happiest when simply serving God and his own parishioners. In saying that, I am reminded that he was one of the pioneering School Chaplains—in St. Patrick's High, Dumbarton.

For this writer, however, two things are especially memorable and endearing about John—his love of Blairs and his love of Croy. He had a phenomenal memory about his time in Blairs, and they were very happy stories he used to remind us of, and to the end of his life he still for instance had a copy of Father Donoghue's famous "Manners" book, which was source material for so many of his stories. A simple symbol of his love for Croy was that on a Sunday morning he partook of the miners' traditional breakfast of stew!!!

For periods of our lives I did not see an awful lot of John, and so there are gaps in this affectionate appreciation, but like many another Blairy friendship ours had a very solid foundation, and ten, twenty or thirty years seemed like only yesterday. May his noble soul rest in the peace and love of Christ.

Right Rev. Mgr. John O'Donnell—3rd March, 1989

Monsignor John O'Donnell, Prelate of Honour, former parish priest of St. Brigid's, Newmains, St. Ignatius', Wishaw, and Chancellor of the Diocese of Motherwell, died at Wishaw on 3rd March 1989 in his 71st year and in the 45th year of his priesthood.

At the Funeral Mass in St. Ignatius', Wishaw, the following homily was given by Father John Breslin, parish priest of St. Bride's, Cambuslang, former Chancellor of the Diocese of Motherwell and Moderator of the Diocesan Curia.

I wasn't even a student for the priesthood when I first knew Monsignor John O'Donnell—just Father O'Donnell then, one of the assistant priests in the parish of Our Lady of Good Aid in Motherwell—not yet the Cathedral parish. No very vivid memories of him at that time linger with me beyond the fact that he consistently said Mass loud and clear—not that this was a great help in those days since he said it in Latin! But he did stand out for that audibility and clarity—characteristics which marked his manner throughout the subsequent years when I did come to know and appreciate his talents and virtues. For he was a forthright man who spoke his mind and followed the truth as it was given him to see it.

In those unreformed liturgy days John O'Donnell, like most of his contemporaries, saw the Church's worship very clearly—there were ceremonial things to be done, often on a very complicated scale, and Bishop Douglas saw this young priest from what was now his Cathedral in the newly formed Diocese of Motherwell as the man to do them. Father John O'Donnell's clarity of mind and organisational ability had been identified as the qualities required in a diocesan Master of Ceremonies. But he possessed them to such a degree that he not only took upon himself the direction of the ceremonial duties of the diocese but he also became its first secretary and assisted his close friend and associate Monsignor Gerry Rogers, first Vicar General of the Bishop, in the very able setting up of the new Diocesan Office located in Bothwell.

As one who many years later inherited that same post of Diocesan Secretary I now gladly and sincerely pay tribute to the far-sighted and very detailed planning which ensured that the foundation work of the diocesan curial office was solid and durable. Only the recent advent of computers has necessitated a basic re-structuring of the work he initiated. On an earlier occasion when the diocese marked the retiral of the late Bishop Francis Thomson I used the word 'meticulous' in referring to John O'Donnell's approach to whatever he undertook or was simply given to do. For me that word is for ever associated with his life and service of this diocese. It exactly describes his approach to the service of the Church—a service that was his life.

And it was as well that it was so. For when Monsignor John Ashe, first treasurer of the diocese and, for the record, my first parish priest (a kind and gentle man in every sense of that word)—it was when he died that the mantle of treasurer fell upon John O'Donnell, an extra mantle he bore uncomplainingly for the rest of his active life.

Bear in mind that so far I have been describing only his more public life and service—the things he did at diocesan level.

In the midst of his other activities he continued to function as a priest in a parish. True . . . when he moved from being an assistant to becoming a parish priest he relinquished his office as M.C. True also . . . that in his parish he had the help of an assistant priest. But no amount of assistance takes away the ultimate responsibility which lies with the man in charge, the one who carries the cares of office, the priest who answers to God for his people.

With the growth of the diocese and its increasing burden of administration there was no way in which this work-horse of the diocese could continue to carry the load unassisted. Aware of the burdens but unwilling to dispense with what was perceived as the indispensability of the bearer of those burdens James Donald Scanlan, who had succeeded Edward Douglas as Bishop of Motherwell and who was later to become Archbishop of Glasgow, elevated John to be his Chancellor of the diocese and gave his faithful work-horse a young assistant to do the donkey work. The new Diocesan Secretary was Father Thomas J. Winning, himself to become in later years Archbishop of Glasgow.

Nor was John himself to be neglected in the Honours List. The Holy Father could not fail to recognise the sterling dedication of this workaholic priest and his contribution to his newly created Diocese of Motherwell. This devotion was recognised when he was appointed a Papal Chamberlain to His Holiness. The now Very Reverend Monsignor John O'Donnell continued unaffectedly with his administrative involvement in the diocese. In due course a further recognition came his way and he was created a Prelate of Honour within the Papal Household with the title he bears today—the Right Reverend Monsignor John O'Donnell. Few rewards have been more deserved in the short history of this diocese of ours.

A more doubtful honour had befallen him in the meantime. As parish priest of St. Brigid's, Newmains he had grown to love the little church in its garden setting and the people with whom he shared that parish. Much of the energy he had to spare was expended on embellishing both church and grounds, and his parishioners were appreciative of his concern for both them and their property. It was most reluctantly but with his ever ready sense of obedience that he accepted the appointment to replace the long-lived and almost legendary Canon Thomas Kearney as parish priest of this church of St. Ignatius, Wishaw within which we worship together today. That is no reflection on the worthy parishioners of St. Ignatius. Far from it. For with their help he tackled the daunting task of restoring this church to its full glory and of replacing the presbytery, at that time dilapidated and beyond economic repair, with the present impressive house.

The uprooting from Newmains was heartbreaking. The re-rooting in Wishaw was painful in its beginnings but rewarding in its results for, with the material improvements completed, he was able then both to give himself to, and himself to receive from his new parishioners what true priests everywhere most value—that sharing in the worship of God and that exchange of service which is the hallmark of the genuine follower of the Lord. John O'Donnell had come home, at least insofar as his active priestly ministry was concerned.

Not surprisingly when we consider the amount of activity this administering pastor crammed into his days John O'Donnell was blessed with good health. No one without a strong constitution could have undertaken all that he managed to accomplish in his early and middle life. Inevitably in later life it takes its toll. John's health began to deteriorate. Not that he complained. It was some time before anyone—and himself perhaps last of all—realised that the burdens were too many, the involvement too much, the workload too heavy. Less and less was he able to give that degree of attention to detail which had marked his earlier lifespan.

And, as so often happens, it is through sickness and suffering that we grow in our humanity. In personal relationships John O'Donnell had been a different man. His work was very much his hobby too—and this does not make for cultivating those close friendships which soften life and help to ease its burdens. God gives us one another so that we might see him in our lives in human form and respond to his presence in others, since our humanity has its problems in reaching out to pure divinity.

John's priestly friends were mainly from his early days in the pre-Cathedral era of Our Lady of Good Aid, Motherwell. As time and infirmity took its toll of them and him he became increasingly isolated. It was not in his nature to make new friends easily. Nor did he feel much for the new outlooks current within the Church. His time of active service was over. Thankfully in many ways he laid the burden down. His time and his times were past.

God in his goodness did not leave him alone. There was to be the sorrow and the suffering of the years of retirement still to come. But there was not to be the loneliness. While still in St. Ignatius' but already needing constant nursing attention Monsignor O'Donnell was blessed with the skill and care of a local district nurse. Margaret Watters gave to the Monsignor what she had given to many patients within her district—a very personal, very attentive nursing care, a care which was to extend to the remaining years of his life. Margaret also recognised the special need he had to belong—he whose life had been spent in the service of others would from now on be wholly dependent on the service of others—and gave him, by bringing him within her own circle of family and friends, a rejuvenation—the only appropriate word in the circumstances—which has made the last years of his life a new beginning and a happy ending. This parish and this diocese will be for ever grateful for her, and their, Christian kindness.

For it is in Christ only that we show our love for one another. It is as Marthas and Marys that we show our love for one another. As Marthas we reproach the Lord—however obliquely—for taking away what he could have spared. “If you had been here, my brother would not have died.” Or as Marys we remain “sitting in the house” thinking the same thought. There is always just the one answer to our spoken or unspoken prayer. “I am the resurrection and the life. If anyone believes in me, even though he die he will live, and whoever lives and believes in me will never die.” To surrender a life well lived to the Lord is no surrender. Far from it. It is a victory. “Do you believe this?”

Very Rev. Denis Provost Meechan—19th March, 1989

On the day when the Lord’s Passion and Death is proclaimed in the Church—Palm Sunday—and the day when there is otherwise celebrated the feast of St. Joseph, Patron of the Dying, Canon Denis Meechan, Parish Priest of St. Kessog’s, Balloch, died in the Bon Secours Hospital, aged 83. He had held a number of distinguished offices—Spiritual Director, Officialis of the Diocesan Tribunal, Administrator of the Cathedral Church. To his people he was sensitive and compassionate, sympathetic and gentlemanly; to his fellow priests he was courteous and appreciative; to his bishop and his Church he was an obedient man.

Denis Meechan was popularly thought to have been born a “Bankie”. But it was in Hardgate, Duntocher, that he began life on August 23rd 1905. He moved early enough into the parish of Our Holy Redeemer to begin his school life there, and it was in that parish that his three brothers and sisters were raised. Two of his brothers were to follow him in his vocation, so that by the time of his death they had provided the diocese with 150 years of priesthood. Throughout his life he remained close to his family, meeting regularly, in a way that was noticed by his parishioners.

Michael Meechan, his father, was born in Summerston, Lambhill, and became despatch clerk at the Co-op; he was involved in parish life, being passkeeper and President of the S.V.D.P. His wife, Mary Flora MacPhee, was from South Uist; it was her origins which no doubt contributed to her son’s interest in the Gaelic language. Noting their surnames Canon Denis would joke that he was descended from gypsies of Ireland and Scotland!

Formal education began at Our Holy Redeemer’s School where he spent nine years. A photo survives of a school football team; the goalie is one Denis Meechan, and it is reported that his jersey was blue. Five years at Blairs College were followed by the traditional seven at the Scots College in Rome where he gained his Doctorate of Divinity, and was one of nine from the Collegio—surely a record for that time—ordained at the Lateran Seminary on 28th February 1931.

His first appointment was a brief one of a few weeks at St. John's, Barrhead. The next was one where he spent the rest of his days as a curate, St. Andrew's Cathedral, Clyde St. During his 16 years there he came under the strict regime of the then Administrator, Mgr. Daly. This required, among other things, not hanging around the house when he should have been around his district; and conversely he was expected to be in the house for meals—all four of them. To this had to be added the demands of the maternity hospital in Rotten Row, as well as those of a Diocesan Master of Ceremonies. He is remembered as a popular confessor and a priest close to his people. One of them recalls how he was called out in the early morning to attend her mother in her dying moments. Then he invited the women's two daughters to come to the side door of the Cathedral at 7 a.m. where he met them and offered a Mass for their mother before the first public Mass of the day.

His sixteen years of pastoral work were used for the benefit of others when he was appointed Spiritual Director in the college he attended in Rome as a student. His talks drew from experience, and some of his reminiscences have been described as hilarious. He was particularly welcomed by the post-graduate students who had hitherto received little differentiation from the lower years by the staff. He in turn gave passionate support to the college football team in a vociferous way not unknown among present-day managers. During these seven years he taught Pastoral theology, and gave lectures in Moral theology at the Beda College.

On his recall to Glasgow in 1954 he was assigned to the recently-formed and busy parish of Our Lady and St. George's, Penilee; he therefore found himself translated from the Scottishness of the Collegio to the only parish in Scotland dedicated to the patron of the Southern Kingdom. Succeeding the founder, Father Casey, he saw to the erection of the church building. He saw, too, to the building of good primary school relationships where there had previously been some awkwardness; he showed his appreciation for the teachers in the local school as he was to do for other schools later. Fellow priests noted the time he sometimes spent in the call-room; opportunities to be with people, he told them, shouldn't be allowed to slip by. And they noted too how, rarely among Parish Priests, he attended Boys' Guild football. Students for the priesthood benefited from the attention and support he gave them. A parishioner remembers the support he gave her as her husband approached death in hospital; to allow her to be present at his bedside Father Denis ensured that either he or his priests were at home with the children. He made a mark with his sermonettes; though he lacked a fluency in his delivery, he struck home with what is remembered 30 years on. While other priests might have said that the voluntariness of a moral act is diminished by violence or pain, he simplified: "If someone stands on your toe and you swear, it's not a sin". It was during his Penilee days that he was made Officialis in the Diocesan Tribunal.

It is rare that a priest finds himself in the same parish twice. It happened, however, to Father Denis (the Doctor as he was often addressed) when he was invited to be the Administrator of St. Andrew's Cathedral in 1965. But despite being installed as a Canon he was not the sort of Administrator required by Archbishop Scanlan, and after two and a half years he was placed in the Sacred Heart, Bridgeton. Here he remained for seven years, in succession to the late and illustrious Canon Peter Morrison.

He surely felt rewarded for his service to the diocese when he was transferred in 1974 to the Loch Lomondside parish of St. Kessog's. They were happy years for him, now entering his 70s. He presided over, rather than dominated, his parish; he was content to encourage and affirm. He was always a man of prayer, and it was in this way that he principally led and served his people. He loved the location, so close to the water and the hills; indeed he commented on this to the congregation at Mass on his very arrival.

Amongst the people of the Vale of Leven he had close and loyal friends. A word they often used of him was that he was "straight"; when he had to disagree he did it openly and courteously. Here he was able to enjoy the interests of his life. After the Church and her teaching came music, especially that of the Church; there was chess and football and cricket. He had always been a reader; Newman, Chesterton and Belloc were his favourites. He read, he said, "for the good of the Church". Smoking might have been mentioned too, whether it was cigarettes, cigars or the pipe; nor were these the only way in which tobacco was ingested, for his room also contained a snuff box. With his assistant priests he was undemanding; he valued their work, but didn't intrude in their lives. Perhaps this was as much a habit he formed against his own curacy days, as a gift of nature. He was a man of astonishing generosity to the charities of his choice. And his charity embraced ecumenism, for although this did not come easily to priests of his generation he encouraged joint services and formed a close mutual friendship with the local Church of Scotland minister.

He loved table company, with the bonhomie and argument which accompanied the food and wine. "I never let the flagon pass me by" he would say, and with his beloved Latin would encourage his guests to accept another glass of wine; "omne trinum perfectum". He was a good listener, and gave his visitors a welcome and his attention; he loved an argument, but couldn't hold a grudge; truth he rated highly, while deception was far from him. And sometimes the exposition of what was so clear to him did not emanate in an entirely logical fashion; he might begin his dissertation somewhere about its middle premise, and then strike out in both directions.

In the middle of his Balloch term Canon Denis celebrated the Golden Jubilee of his Priesthood; but a visit to the Holy Land, considered for this event, never took place. About this time too he was confined to the local hospital with ulcer trouble; he made an excellent recovery, speeded perhaps by the invitation of Archbishop Winning (a protégé of his in his Roman days) to become Provost of the Cathedral Chapter. His saddest days in St. Kessog's were certainly those at the time of the illness and death of his brother, Father James, in 1984. Then in January 1989, as he approached his 58th anniversary, he experienced a weakness, first in his left arm one day at Mass, and then in his left leg. This led to admission to the Bon Secours Hospital, where he was lovingly cared for by the sisters and staff there; the only Mass he was able to celebrate was one along with Bishop Renfrew and his brother Canon Michael on his ordination anniversary. He had entered hospital on Ash Wednesday and he died on the first day of Holy Week, 19 March. He was buried in Dumbarton Cemetery.

At his Requiem Mass, Archbishop Winning recalled his faithfulness. Just as one of the Fathers had spoken of the two great lights of life, the sun and the moon, so the Christian has two great teachers and lights: Christ and the Church. That is how it was with Canon Denis. He was an obedient man, a son of the Church.

One of his favourite hymns had always been "O Bread of Heaven". Its last verse was so appropriate for this Mass:

"Beloved Lord in heaven above,
There, Jesus, thou awaitest me;
To gaze on thee with changeless love.
Yes, thus I hope, thus shall it be:
For how can he deny me heaven
Who here on earth himself hath given?"

Very Rev. Patrick Canon Kelly—29th March, 1989

On 2nd October, 1894, Patrick Kelly was born in Cambuslang. God alone knew what this good man, in later years, was to face. The First World War was in progress as he finished his secondary school studies and proceeded to train for the priesthood. This period was interrupted when he was "called up" for military service. In active service he was seriously wounded, losing a leg. It is worth noting, also, that on the battlefield Father George Galbraith, then an army chaplain, was to the fore in getting Pat back to hospital quarters where he was operated on and the leg amputated.

In spite of this disability he resumed his studies for the priesthood with grim determination and was ordained in 1924, two years later than his class of the time. Notwithstanding what Father Pat came through he never looked for, or received, any preferential treatment and was ever alert to doing his share of work in any parish he served. Hospital work in the war years saw him attend Gartloch Hospital, served from St. Patrick's, Coatbridge and in those times it was a very busy assignment but he was attentive and conscientious in his work there. Perhaps what he himself suffered made him more conscious of the suffering of others.

The Second World War saw him again suffer in the Clydebank blitz when attached to St. Stephen's, Dalmuir.

On taking up residence in St. Columba's, Viewpark with his friend Father McCann, he soon made his presence felt with his visitation and preaching; and on the recreational side he is well remembered there for his dramatic work. After having spent his early years as chaplain to Bishopbriggs Boys' School, he took up duties as an assistant priest in St. Patrick's, Coatbridge in 1932. In Coatbridge, as in every place he worked, his name is ever alive and loved; from Coatbridge he moved on in 1940 to St. Stephen's, Dalmuir, and St. Columba's, Viewpark in 1942.

The first parish he was in charge of—officially—was St. Patrick's, Strathaven, where, again, hospital work was very much in evidence in Stonehouse Hospital. I say 'officially' because where Father Pat was he was always the voice of authority. From Strathaven he moved to Our Lady and St. Joseph's, Glenboig where he was a loved and respected pastor, doing his visitation to school and parish—especially to the sick of the parish.

In 1953 he took charge of the Holy Family Parish, Mossend—here again he faced a new challenge with the firm establishment of Sacred Heart Parish and the opening of St. Gerard's, Bellshill in 1967. In 1969 he retired and lived privately in Saltcoats until he died on 29th March 1989.

Canon Kelly was a great reader—light and heavy 'books' were ever at hand—the result was that he could, and did, make a good conversationalist.

That is but a brief summary of a life that contained so much suffering—so much pain from his 'wound'. But in spite of his suffering he loved priests' company, be it in the form of a sing-song—giving his rendering of—the Shawl of Galway Grey—or attending and enjoying a football match such as the "Coronation Cup Final". He was so much at home with his fellow priests—perhaps that was why he survived those many years of suffering and outlived all his class-mates—Bishop Douglas, Canon John McCrory, Mgr. Michael Ward, Canon William McGhee.

Canon Kelly's funeral Mass was celebrated in Our Lady, Star of the Sea, Saltcoats, in which parish he had spent the last 20 years of his life. Bishop Devine of Motherwell was the principal celebrant, joined by Bishop Taylor of Galloway, Canon Nicholas Murphy, parish priest of Our Lady, Star of the Sea, who had shown such care and kindness to the Canon for many years and many priests of the Dioceses of Motherwell and Galloway.

To his only remaining sister, Theresa, and his nephew Daniel, we offer our sympathy—as also to Rose who was so good to him in his latter years in Saltcoats.

God rest his soul.

Very Rev. Hugh Canon Deery—23rd May, 1989

Hugh Canon Deery was born on the Feast of St. Ambrose, 7th December, 1914, and a 'Bankie'. He was baptised in the Church of Our Holy Redeemer, Clydebank, on the 16th December, the son of John Deery and Catherine Mulholland Deery. An altar boy in his home parish, he found himself ignominiously dismissed for opening the sacristy door, and accidentally allowing the Parish Priest's dogs to invade the Sanctuary during Benediction, a heinous crime he enjoyed recalling. Undeterred by this early blot on his religious copybook, he entered the junior seminary of Blairs in 1928, went from there to the Scots College in Rome, and was ordained on the 15th June, 1939 in the Church of St. Anthony in Rome.

His first appointment was to St. Mary's, Saltcoats, where he served under the famous Canon Michael O'Connor from 1940-46, followed by 12 years with the even more renowned churchman Bishop Henry Grey Graham in Holy Cross, Crosshill. Of these first two parish priests he often spoke with enthusiasm and admiration, and those who knew Hugh would recognise in his character the fearless courage of Canon O'Connor especially in the face of authority, together with an equally strong respect for authority, that had been the hallmark of the Bishop's life. Like them both he wanted to be and was a true servant of his Church.

After a further period of curacy in St. Aloysius', Springburn, he was in 1962 appointed founding parish priest of Our Lady of Good Counsel, Dennistoun, a parish founded from the mother parish of St. Mary's, Calton. Here too Hugh profited by the qualities of a fellow churchman, the great Monsignor Michael Ward, parish priest of St. Mary's, and of inestimable help to the neophyte pastor.

Whatever might be said of the years previous, and his achievements in many areas, the 12 years of his stewardship in Our Lady of Good Counsel must be viewed as his finest, a period in which he splendidly modelled the role of Parish Priest as pastor and servant of the community. His achievements were many, a fine church (that profited from his very personal involvement, and was the recipient of a number of architectural awards), an even finer community spirit amongst the people, a parish council that was not only novel, but boasted 72 elected members, foreshadowing in their regular visitation of their constituents the Messengers of our current day. Among the 15 committees that contributed to the parish council there were a myriad of clubs for the children of the parish, a programme for the younger adults, a comprehensive adult education programme, a liturgy group, womens' groups, family circles, men's choir, etc.

Possibly the pinnacle of his achievements in Our Lady of Good Counsel was the Parish Convention held in the McLellan Galleries in the centre of Glasgow in 1969, when all the parish groups (including parish orchestra!), gathered to celebrate their community. In its introduction the programme for the Convention said

"The Christian ideal is for each of us to have a well-developed sense of responsibility for one another; the young and healthy, for instance, showing concern for the sick and elderly; those in comfortable circumstances aiding the needy; in their turn the sick, the old and the needy by their supplying the active with necessary spiritual support. Our parish council was established to foster this aim. For success it only needs parishioners, enthusiasm and willing hands. Let it be emphasised that within the Parish Council there is a place for everyone whatever their circumstances tastes or abilities".

This was the expression of Hugh's vision. Being a visionary was perhaps his outstanding talent. He was a quiet man, a very private person, a modest priest, and this probably served to disguise from many his prophetic understanding of what a post-Vatican II Church would need to look like, a church where the virtues of community would be crucial.

In 1974 Hugh was transferred to St. Flannan's, Kirkintilloch, where he served for four years before being transferred to St. Bernadette's, Carntyne, where he served until his death on May 23rd 1989. If these later years never quite captured the magical qualities of his Dennistoun ministry, they were still rich in good things. Hugh was an intelligent man, quick to detect the valuable and the valueless, a man respected by his fellow priests for his judgements and integrity. He was chosen by them as vice-chairman of the Council of Priests, selected by the Diocese to be a member of the Eyre Trust, and finally invited to be a member of the Cathedral Chapter in 1984.

"The man of today listens to witnesses more willingly than to teachers; or if he listens to teachers, it is because they are witnesses." . . . Pope Paul VI.

For many of us Hugh was a witness and a teacher, perhaps his modesty hid what he had to offer from more of us. A secular priest takes a vow of celibacy, makes a promise of obedience, and though not committing himself by vow to poverty, is expected to be moderate in his needs, and modest in his living. Remembering Hugh is to remember someone who witnesses and thereby taught us these latter qualities of moderation and modesty.

Our sympathy goes to his family and parishioners who have lost a great servant. Their grief would be in part alleviated by the ordination to the priesthood of his nephew Jim a bare few weeks after Hugh's death. Hugh will appreciate the continuity in Church and Family.

"To one whose thought keeps pace with the sun, the day is perpetual morning" . . . Henry David Thoreau.

We pray that Hugh is enjoying the vision and morning he so assiduously prepared for throughout his life and ministry. May he rest in peace.

Very Rev. Karl-Heinz Canon Kruger—24th May, 1989

In Canon Karl Kruger we have lost a great friend—the archdiocese of St. Andrews and Edinburgh has lost a great priest.

Karl-Heinz Kruger, or K.H.K. as he was more affectionately known later, was born in Berlin on the 7th April, 1924. As a boy of fifteen his life was disrupted when, because his mother was a Jewess, he was forced to become a refugee from Nazi Germany with his younger brother Hans, now Father Boniface, O.F.M., and he was separated from his family.

He arrived in Scotland in March 1939 through the agency of a Refugee Organisation, but after the outbreak of war he was interned as an alien—arrested one Sunday morning while preparing for church and was taken away, separated from his brother Hans, clad ironically in the school uniform of Edinburgh Academy. His brother was too young to be arrested.

After a short stay in a camp in England he was deported, still as a prisoner, to Canada, still clad in his school uniform—a fact which proved an asset in Canada as one of the guards in the camp was a former pupil of Edinburgh Academy and was very good to him.

Canon Kruger was naturally reticent about those years and one respected his privacy, but they must have been painful years for him. Only once in the long years of our friendship did he speak of them—on the last occasion we were together some weeks ago. It was to say, perhaps in hindsight, that it was then, the only time in his life, that he felt the hand of God was obviously, almost tangibly, at work in him.

While imprisoned in camp in Canada he met and became friendly with another refugee from Hitler's Germany, Bernhard Pfundk, a student for the priesthood whose studies had been interrupted when he fled Germany. As Canon Kruger put it they had absolutely nothing else to do, so they just discussed theology, day in and day out, and his mentor was very knowledgeable and thorough.

On returning to Scotland in 1940 he became a Catholic, he had been brought up a Lutheran, expressed his desire to study for the priesthood but being a new convert he was asked to wait and pray about it. He did and in 1943 he entered St. Mary's College, Blairs, to commence his study of philosophy.

The war was still on and officially he was not completely free; for the records he was, like many P.O.W's. and internees, an agricultural worker on the home farm in Blairs. He completed his study of philosophy, but while his fellow-students moved on to study theology elsewhere he was forced to remain at Blairs as an agricultural worker for another year, during which year he began his study of theology alone, tutored by members of the staff in Blairs, doing his daily stint on the farm. The following year he was allowed his freedom and he rejoined some of his former fellow-students in St. Edmund's College, Ware.

He completed his theology and was ordained to the priesthood on the 17th July, 1949, in St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh by the late Archbishop McDonald. He was delighted that his father was present at his ordination—his mother had died during the war.

After ordination he served for a year as a curate in St. Ninian's, Edinburgh, before being sent to Cambridge University where he graduated in French and German in 1953. He returned to Edinburgh where he served another year as curate in St. Cuthbert's parish. In 1954 he was appointed to the staff of St. Mary's College, Blairs, the national Junior Seminary for students to the priesthood.

However his own days as a student were not yet over, for in 1955 he was sent to the Institut Catholique in Paris to study for a degree in philosophy. He completed his Licentiate in philosophy and wrote his doctoral thesis on Husserl in two years, although the Licentiate was a three year course. He was awarded a summa cum laude.

In the summer of 1957 he was appointed to the staff of St. Andrew's College, Drygrange, where he lectured in philosophy for the next thirteen years and is remembered with great affection by the staff and students of that era.

In 1970 he was appointed to the newly formed parish of Christ the King, Grangemouth, where he built the presbytery and church complex which opened in 1975. Finally he came to Kilsyth two years ago and last year was made a Canon of the Cathedral Chapter. He died on 24th May, 1989.

Over the years Canon Kruger was indefatigable. During his years in Drygrange over and above his lectures in philosophy he found time to be Promoter of Vocations in the archdiocese—advising, organising seminars and working with boys prior to their entry into the seminary—the K.K. Kids as they became known, many of whom are now priests.

During those years too he organised from Drygrange the teaching of catechism to the children of the Borders, deprived of education in Catholic schools.

Also during those years he undertook and completed the translation from German of the monumental multi-volume work of perhaps the leading, but abstruse, theologian of the century: the "Theological Investigations" of Karl Rahner. Indeed it is widely held that to understand Rahner one has to read him in the Kruger translation!

While in Grangemouth Canon Kruger found time to set up, organise and direct the Catholic Marriage Advisory Council in Central Region—work which he continued to the end.

He served as Dean, sat on the Council of Priests and when the programme of Renewal in the archdiocese was envisaged, he was involved in setting it up and directing it—work which he also continued to the end. In Grangemouth too he found time to be actively involved in the setting up and in the running of the “Grangemouth Enterprises”, a project in conjunction with the Manpower Services, employing youths in the restoration and resale of furniture. He remained involved even after his appointment to Kilsyth.

One could only but admire his tremendous stamina and his application over the years. He found time—he made time.

It is very difficult to pay adequate tribute to Canon Kruger—but the short curriculum vitae speaks for itself. He was, in the kindest possible sense, a complex person. Given his early years one might suspect that he would be academic, removed and aloof. Nothing could be further from the truth; he wore his learning lightly and all his work was pastorally orientated.

He was a private person, reticent about himself—above all reticent about his achievements, but at the same time he was outgoing, generous, understanding and above all extremely charitable. He invited trust and confidence, was a wise counsellor and as we know, much loved by all who knew him. One always left his company enriched and enhanced.

His dedication and his application to his priestly work and the efficiency with which he carried out all that he undertook or was asked to undertake—these were there for all to see, things that even he could not hide.

When one thinks of Canon Kruger it is one who very definitely had decided his priorities and who lived out his life undeviatingly according to those priorities. He had chosen to follow Our Lord in the priesthood and whatever else he may have been, he was first, last and foremost a priest, and no-one was ever allowed to forget that fact. Throughout his life he burdened himself only with what was necessary for his priestly work—all his work was priestly work. In his death the age-old adage was fulfilled “repentina mors, sacerdotis sors”—sudden death is the lot of the priest.

His last wish of all of us is expressed in the final words of his very short will: “pray for me, a poor sinner”.

Very Rev. Charles Canon Duffin—3rd July, 1989

Charles Duffin was born on the 10th October 1908 in Kilbirnie, Ayrshire, son of Michael and Mary Duffin, brother of Michael, John, Mary and Agnes. The family were involved in working in the local steel mill. His early education took place in St. Bridget's school, Kilbirnie and once completed the young lad set off for the nearest Catholic school for his secondary education—St. Mungo's Academy, GLASGOW!! For six years this meant an early rise and walk to the station for the train to St. Enoch's station, Glasgow, followed by another walk through the city to Parson St., Townhead. At 4 p.m. the process was reversed. This was quite a daunting task for the youth and his companions—the busy city and the grime of the tenements in contrast to the green fields of North Ayrshire. In later years Charlie found it difficult to understand those who would not walk two miles to school but needed special buses.

The Academy played an important role in the formation of the future priest and he was always appreciative of the work of the Marist Brothers and their lay teachers. The contact was kept up with his attendance at the Annual Dinner of the St. Mungo F.P. Association.

Towards the end of his schooldays tragedy struck with the death of his mother just as Charlie was deciding his future career. For him it was the Police Force. No Scottish force took recruits as young as eighteen years, but he discovered that the London Metropolitan Force did. So yet again he set off by train, this time for London. His journeying to and from school had made him self sufficient and independent, and he was able to take the loneliness and discipline of living in a Police hostel in the middle of London. The Police and what it stood for in service to the community moulded the life and attitudes of the young constable. He joined the Catholic Police Guild and became friendly with the Guild Chaplain. But as he walked the beat in London he felt that God was calling him elsewhere to another type of service to the community—in the priesthood. With the encouragement of the Chaplain he applied to the Archdiocese of Glasgow and in the autumn of 1930 was sent to the Scots College Rome to begin his studies for the priesthood.

Rome and all things Italian fascinated him—the architecture, the Churches the art galleries and museums. The summer holidays were spent exploring the sights and scenes of Italy after the rigours of study at the Gregorian University. Being the senior student in the College Charlie was ordained earlier than the rest of his year. This took place in the Church of the Gesù on the 12th July 1936. Among the congratulations on his happy day were those from his former colleagues in the 'Met' with the presentation of a silver chalice to commemorate the occasion.

It was a different Glasgow from the one he had known seven years previously, when the young priest returned to Scotland in 1937 and took up his first appointment in Our Holy Redeemer, Clydebank. The shipyards were busy with full employment, but the menace of Nazism was looming in Europe and in two short years the country was at war. Though it meant yet another upheaval Father Charlie saw it as his duty to be with those in special need and offered his services as an Army chaplain. He was to spend the War years for the most part in Palestine and the Middle East, maybe not at the centre of the conflict, but entailing long journeys over inhospitable territory to bring Mass and the Sacraments to the soldiers. When peace came in 1945 he was demobbed, but it was six months before he could get home from Palestine. As he had done in his student days he used the time to advantage on pilgrimage to the Holy Places, walking in the steps of his Master.

St. Constantine's Govan was the next appointment for Father Charlie on his return to the diocese and it was to last for five years. It was difficult to settle down to the routine of parish work after the freedom of the Army chaplaincy, but his sense of discipline pulled him through along with his sense of humour. Many are the jokes his fellow curates had to suffer from this droll character. In 1950 Archbishop Campbell sent him to St. Ninian's, Knightswood, where he remained for four years. From there it was south of the River to St. Luke's in the Gorbals.

During these years in addition to his parish work of school, house visitation, and celebrations in the Church, Father Charlie was Catholic Chaplain to the City of Glasgow Police. Each Friday afternoon was spent speaking to the new recruits at the Training Centre in Oxford Street, giving them the guidance of his own experience. The former policeman proved very acceptable to those in charge of training. Many lasting friendships were forged at the centre. Once one of the instructors was badly injured in a road accident which entailed many weeks in the Royal Infirmary. Each Friday after class the Chaplain would take the tram up High Street to visit him. The poor sergeant wanted the priest barred from the ward because his jokes made him laugh too much and the stitches were in danger of bursting—also the invalid was a member of the Church of Scotland.

In 1957 the death of Father Bill Forbes, the founder-priest of St. Laurence Drumchapel brought about the charge of the parish for Father Charlie. His first task as parish priest was to prepare for the official opening of the new Church, which took place on the 21st September 1957. The next ten years were spent with his assistants building up the parish community in this post-war housing scheme—young families, schools full of children, and older people delighted to have a new home away from the inner city and old tenement buildings with few amenities. To some, the parish priest seemed strict, laying down the Law to be observed. Certainly he could be forthright and uncompromising in the pulpit, yet when dealing with the individual he was sympathetic and understanding. The chapelhouse was always a pleasant place to live in for the clergy who came as assistants. All were well catered for by the housekeepers, Misses Chrissie and Mary Hughes.

Standards were very important to Father Charlie. To keep the Church and grounds clean and tidy he was not averse to wielding a shovel or a paint brush alongside the faithful band of church workers.

St. John's Gorbals was Father Charlie's next appointment as parish priest in succession to the late Canon John Boyle. This was early 1967. St. John's was the third oldest parish in the Archdiocese with the prestigious Gothic church. Right away the new parish priest set about a cleaning and restoration job to bring the building back to its former glory. When the work was completed, St. John's stood out as a beacon of light amid all the demolition and development in the area. The old Gorbals was being replaced by high-rise flats, seen as the answer to Glasgow's housing problems. This meant a movement of population with the subsequent loss of parishioners. Over the next ten years Father Charlie was to look on as one assistant after another was transferred elsewhere, eventually leaving him alone to run the parish. The blow was softened somewhat by his being chosen as an honorary Canon of the Cathedral Chapter in 1971—a recognition for many years of faithful service to the Church.

With the coming of regionalisation in 1975 Canon resigned as chaplain to Glasgow Police after thirty years service. The Force appreciated him and were sorry to see him leave.

By 1979 the years began to take their toll, and Canon asked Archbishop Winning to allow him to give up the reins and retire. He was now 71 years of age. The Hughes household in Knightswood welcomed him to their home and Canon was able to spend almost ten years of peace and contentment, well looked after by Chrissie and Mary, and frequently visited by the priests from St. Ninian's where he had spent some time as an assistant.

In the end bronchial pneumonia took him from this life on 3rd July 1989 days away from his fifty-third year in the priesthood. His funeral was conducted by Archbishop Winning, Bishop Renfrew and a considerable number of his fellow priests. Sympathy was offered to Canon's sister Agnes, his nieces, nephews, and cousin Father Neil Duffin. A priest-nephew Charles Duffin of the Verona Fathers sent his prayers and condolences from his mission station. Two former Chief Constables were present to pay their last respects and six officers from Strathclyde Police bore Canon to his final resting-place in St. Peter's cemetery, Dalbeth. May he rest in peace.

Rev. William Murphy—26th July, 1989

Father William Murphy, retired parish priest of St. Joachim's, Carmyle, died as the result of a drowning accident while on holiday with his sister in Waterville, Co. Kerry on 26th July, 1989. His unexpected death was a tremendous shock to all who had known him both in Scotland and Ireland. He was 61 years of age.

Father Murphy was born on Valentia Island off the Kerry coast on 9th October, 1927. After his early schooling at Valentia and Waterville, he went to St. Brendan's College, Killarney, the minor seminary for the diocese of Kerry and, having completed his secondary education, entered All Hallows College, Dublin in September, 1946 to begin his studies for the priesthood. At the end of his first year at All Hallows, he was accepted by the late Archbishop Donald A. Campbell for the Glasgow Archdiocese. At the age of fourteen he was struck down with polio and had to spend a year in hospital. It was during that period that he made a promise that he would dedicate his life to God as a priest were he to recover sufficiently to do the work that such a calling would demand. Although the effects of the illness were to incapacitate him physically throughout the rest of his life, he battled bravely on and was able to enjoy a regular game of golf up to a few years ago. As a youth, he took part in all kinds of sporting activities. His contemporaries in Kerry remember him winning the one hundred yard sprint in the school sports! He loved to play football and he had a healthy ambition to be good enough to be selected for a place in the senior Kerry team. After some 47 years, the trainer of the present senior team was present at his funeral.

Father Willie is remembered at All Hallows as an exceptionally conscientious student both in his studies and in his keeping of the, then, strict, Sulpician, college rules. He had a great love for learning, especially for Sacred Scripture and Dogma. To the end of his days he possessed a curious mind in searching for a greater knowledge of God and things of the spirit. How very apt, in his case, was the motto inscribed by the college rector on a keepsake prayerbook given to him and the 26 others ordained to the priesthood with him on 22 June, 1952—"De hoc mundo non estis"! Although very well able to relate to the people whom he served during his priestly ministry, his mind was always set on the 'Vision of Glory'. He was never to lose his love for his 'alma mater' and he was due to return again to the college in August for the 'Intercession for Priests' which he participated in every year. In his final year as a student, he was given the responsibility of prefect (decano) of the younger students in the 'Junior House'. Among those under his charge was the young Jeremiah Coffee, who was ordained Bishop of Sale in Australia just a month before Willie's tragic death.

His first appointment, a temporary one, on coming to Glasgow in July, 1952 was to St. Anthony's, Govan. Later that same year, he was transferred to St. Alphonsus'. Here he spent ten industrious and zealous years. In January, 1962 he was to leave the east of Glasgow and become an assistant priest to the legendary Father Michael O'Sullivan in the rural parish of St. Martin, Renton. He relished the countryside and fresh air of the Vale of Leven and he enjoyed being involved in the care of the extensive church grounds. Despite his disability, the parishioners of St. Martin's experienced his availability, his wise counsel and his readiness to help them in every way possible. On Father O'Sullivan's retirement in March, 1974, Father Willie went to the larger parish of Our Lady of Lourdes, Cardonald. The work he had to cope with there proved to be too heavy for him and, after only eighteen months, he was to move on to St. Paul's, Whiteinch. This was to be his final assignment as an assistant priest. In May, 1979 he was appointed by Archbishop Winning to be parish priest of St. Joachim's, Carmyle.

The parishioners were immediately aware that their new pastor was a man who lived his vocation with complete dedication. He was a priest of the parish, the school and the home. His zeal for the beauty of God's house was evident in the repairs and the redecoration of the church and the building of a much needed parochial hall will be a material memorial to him for posterity. Having lived with the debilitating effects of polio for so many years, he, reluctantly, had to ask the Archbishop at the beginning of this year to accept his retirement from his parish at Carmyle. It was agreed that he would say farewell to the people of St. Joachim's on Easter Sunday. His departure was to be a mere four months to the day to his untimely death. Retirement made little difference to his life style. The Mass and devotion to Our Lady, always the centre of his spiritual life, now became even more important. From his early years at St. Alphonsus' parish in the fifties up to taking charge of St. Joachim's, he was a spiritual director to a local praesidium of the Legion of Mary. And, to share his love and devotion to Our Lady with his fellow priests, he established a 'Cenacle of Prayer' at Carmyle, which was held on the first Thursday of each month. Prior to the Archbishop launching his Pastoral Plan for the diocese, Father Willie was one of three parishes to participate in the 'Better World Movement' which was to initiate the renewal process.

It could truly be said of him that he found his greatest pleasure in the company of his fellow priests. He looked forward to spending his day off with his colleagues on a golf course and it was a very great sadness for him to have to give up playing his weekly game as his physical condition deteriorated. However, he was able to pursue his other form of exercise, namely swimming, and he visited the Bellshill Baths, even after his retirement to Scotstoun. It is, indeed, ironic that he was to die while enjoying a swim in the open sea in his native Kerry. But, surely it was fortuitous that he departed from this life on the feast-day of his parish patron, St. Joachim, 26th July? He had celebrated the Mass of St. Joachim and St. Anne less than two hours before he died.

His Funeral Mass was offered in St. Finian's parish church, Waterville on Saturday, 29th July. The principal concelebrant was Father Billy O'Connor, a first cousin from Salford diocese. Archbishop Winning, who was unable to be present, was represented by Father Eugene McGee, parish priest of St. Matthew's, Bishopbriggs. Among the many concelebrants were Bishop David Cremin, an auxiliary bishop in Sydney who had been a contemporary of his at All Hallows College, Father Kevin Rafferty, C.M. the rector of the college, Father Joseph Walsh, a member of the college staff and Father Herbie Flack, parish priest of St. Joseph's, Stepps, who was ordained to the priesthood with Father Willie in 1952. Among the large congregation of mourners present were his sister, Mary, still resident at Waterville and his brothers, Sean and Mike, who had travelled back from Edmonton, Alberta and San Francisco respectively. Afterwards, he was laid to rest in the cemetery beside the church. It is a consolation to his sister that he died at home and now lies buried in the grounds of her parish church.

As the obsequies were taking place in Co. Kerry, Archbishop Winning, who had returned from Lourdes to Glasgow early that morning, was chief concelebrant of a Requiem Mass at St. Joachim's, Carmyle with Bishop Renfrew and a large number of clergy and attended by many former parishioners and friends, not only from Carmyle, but also from the other parishes where he had spent some of his 37 years as a priest of the Archdiocese of Glasgow. All had come to pray and to sing their last farewell to this unassuming priest.

Father Murphy was, in every aspect of life, a man of God, one who enshrined the highest and noblest attributes of the priesthood and radiated an inner goodness wherever he went. His work and his mission was not to draw people to himself, but to bring them to God. Let our tribute to him and our esteem for him be a remembrance of him at the altar of the Lord.

AR DHEIS DE GO RAIBH A ANAM

Very Rev. Myles Canon Moriarty—3rd September, 1989

The family and relations of Canon Moriarty had planned to assemble in Ireland on September 5th, 1989 to celebrate the 40th Ordination Anniversary of one of the Canon's nephews, Father Peter, home from the Missions to mark the event. Sadly the family did assemble that day but it was to attend the Requiem Mass in St. Margaret's, Ayr, of their brother and uncle. The church was packed to capacity with diocesan clergy and laity from the parishes where the Canon had served during his fifty-four years of dedicated service in this diocese.

Born on 13th February, 1910, he was a native of Annascaul, County Kerry. After his early years in the local school, he went for secondary education to St. Brendan's College, Killarney. Thence to the Major Seminary in Thurles from 1929 till his ordination by Archbishop Harty in the summer of 1935.

His first appointment was to St. Margaret's, Ayr and, naturally, he made the crossing from Larne to Stranraer. On that day he displayed a remarkable and untypical reluctance to begin work by falling asleep in the train. He slept past Ayr and was awakened in Glasgow and pointed south again. So his priestly service began in the parish where we assembled last autumn to bid him farewell. His first parish priest was the eminent, if slightly daunting, Monsignor Joseph McHardy, a man with a heart of gold who retained from his 1914-18 days as an army chaplain, a sense of order, precision and discipline. He and his new curate were poles apart in almost everything but the priesthood, yet a strong bond developed between them that lasted till the good old Monsignor died, aged ninety-two.

It was a joy to work with him, to live in the same presbytery, as the writer of this memoir can testify. With great tact he steered me through the first faltering months of parish work, and it was only when he left for his first charge that I realised what a strength and support he had been.

He became parish priest of Muirkirk in 1940. Numerically a small parish, it had got a bit rundown and his first Sunday collection of four shillings and eightpence hardly betokened a comfortable living. But the good folk of the mining community rallied round and helped Father Myles to rekindle a sense of purpose in the place. And the blossoming and the growth continued during the fourteen years he spent there. Between his leaving Muirkirk in 1944 and his death, forty-five years were to pass, the presence at his Requiem of many of his friends from the Muirkirk days spoke volumes for the place he always had in their hearts.

After Muirkirk he was briefly in Waterside till Bishop McGee appointed him the first parish priest of the new church of the Good Shepherd in Dalmilling, Ayr. And it was during his thirteen years there that he saw his church become the Cathedral of the Diocese and he its first administrator.

In 1966 he succeeded Canon Michael O'Connor as Provost of the Chapter of Canons, and at the same time he inherited Canon O'Connor's place on the Ayrshire Education Committee. Add to this twenty-six years of service on the service on the Diocesan Finance Board, as well as a long period as the Galloway representative on the Council for the Propagation of the Faith. It may come as a surprise to many that he handled all these tasks on top of his normal parish work. But that was Myles Moriarty, any amount of faithful work but no trumpets please.

He left the Cathedral in 1970 and was parish priest of St. Cuthbert's, Maybole, till his retirement in March, 1983. "Retirement" is not the word. He was happy to take up where he had left off in St. Margaret's, Ayr, forty-three years before and he returned to work in genial harmony with Father Martin McCluskey. He often spoke of his happiness in these his final years. There was a marvellous bonhomie in the presbytery; laughter was the order of the day (and could Myles laugh!). He visited the County Hospital with the regularity he had given the work four decades before, and did his adequate share of the weekend work. He once said to me, "What a way to prepare to go".

This memoir has been just a sort of curriculum vitae or sustained vote of thanks. It would be more than that. It is a tribute to a good man—one of many, thank God for them—who crossed the Irish Sea to serve God outside of his homeland. He did what St. Patrick did but only in reverse.

His work was wider and more embracing than was widely realised. It was always successful work because Canon Myles was a conscientious man, and a popular man is always successful when working with others is involved. He was never a complainer; he never felt that his work would be better or more appreciated if only he were elsewhere. He accepted every new appointment without demur and got on with the work in the new place.

The Good Lord spared him a long distressing illness. Not that he would have grumbled; he was never known to grumble about anything, but he would have hated being a nuisance to anyone. He suffered a stroke one Sunday morning and was dead ten days later. St. Margaret's Church was packed as never before for his Requiem Mass because everyone who knew him, even so slightly, regarded him as a close friend.

In Canon Myles we had a man who was first and foremost a priest, a priest in the proudest and humblest sense of the word. The deep integrity of his priesthood had been a model to his fellow priests, and a source of joy and comfort to the people he served so well. He did not return to God empty-handed. We believe that he entered his happy eternity to the welcoming words of Christ: "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter into the joy of your Lord".

Very Rev. Mgr Hugh G. McEwan, S.T.D.—23rd September, 1989

Hugh Gerard McEwan was born in Glasgow on 7th May 1925 and died in Glasgow sixty-four years later on 23rd September, 1989. Twenty of those years were spent in Rome, and it was that period in his life as a student and priest that exercised the greatest influence on him and consequently on those with whom he made contact as a priest. He had been one of a group of students who returned to the Scots College in Rome immediately after the Second World War in the autumn of 1946, conscious of the challenge and the opportunities that lay ahead of them. Hugh McEwan took readily to the life in Rome and is remembered as a keen student of theology and an equally keen student of every aspect of Roman life. There were few excursions, even to the remotest places of interest, that did not include him, and in time he acquired an almost encyclopedic knowledge of the city and its history.

His academic career at the Gregorian University was distinguished and led to a doctorate in theology with the presentation of his thesis on The Beatific Vision in the Post-Tridentine Fathers. In later years he would remark that it was not an easy matter to introduce this subject in polite company. This was typical of his disarming sense of humour and was a talent that he turned to advantage not least when preaching. He was ordained priest by Archbishop Luigi Traglia in the Lateran Basilica on 18th December 1948 and on the completion of his academic studies he was appointed to the staff of the Scots College, first of all as tutor, and then as vice-rector. As tutor he had the doubtful pleasure of introducing new students to the world of philosophy and advising them on the finer points of scholastic discourse. Here too he showed a fine combination of humour and erudition and there are many priests in Scotland today who have good reason to be thankful to him for having helped them survive those testing days.

He brought to his work as vice-rector of the College the same patience and attention to detail that was characteristic of everything he did. By the time he came to take up this appointment he was well versed in the ways of Rome and, more important, in the ways of the rector Monsignor William R. Clapperton. It would be hard to imagine two more different personalities and it is a tribute to both men that they were able to work so well together for the good of the College they both loved so dearly. At times their working relationship appeared to be more of a battle of wits than a coming together of minds. Hugh was not the first to discover this but, as it turned out, he was to be the last. Monsignor Clapperton retired and his place was taken up by Monsignor Philip Flanagan. Those were the heady days of Pope John XXIII and the Vatican Council was soon to get under way. Not everyone was enchanted by what was happening in the Church but Hugh McEwan stands out among his contemporaries as a man who valued the new insights provided by the day to day deliberations of the Council Fathers while preserving a healthy respect for the past. As vice-rector of the College he was clearly instrumental in providing continuity where there might otherwise have been confusion and even disarray in the wake of the Council.

It was at this time that the decision had been made to move the Scots College from the Via delle Quattro Fontane, in the centre of Rome, to what was thought to be a more idyllic setting on the Via Cassia. Hugh worked closely with the rector on this project which resulted in the completion of the splendid new college in November 1964. During this entire period Hugh kept detailed diaries of events relating to the College and the Church and these must surely prove valuable to students of the period.

On his own admission the years of the Vatican Council were among the most fulfilling in Hugh's life. He had been appointed a Privy Chamberlain to His Holiness Pope John XXIII in September 1961 and was very conscious of being part of the Papal household. He took every opportunity to take his place in the colourful ceremonies which were such a distinctive feature of the pontificate of Pope John XXIII and had a keen eye and ear for some of the less publicised moments on the Council floor. This experience allowed him to grasp the full implications of the Council from the outset, when others failed to do so or even resisted them. In fact, the Council was not yet over when he published his reflections in the form of a C.T.S. pamphlet which was well received at the time, and which, when read today, reveals just how well he understood the events in which he was immersed.

Archbishop Scanlan recalled Hugh to Glasgow to be his private secretary soon after his own arrival as Archbishop. He found it difficult to leave Rome after so many years. Among his effects there must be somewhere a barometer which he was given as a farewell present from the students. At the time he remarked that, like the barometer, he was changeable. In the event he adapted well to the change. There was adequate scope for his many talents in Glasgow and in the wider Scottish scene. For a time he was ecclesiastical adviser to the Glasgow Circle of the Newman Association and brought a prudence and balance to the many heated discussions and debates occasioned by the Council in Rome. His work for ecumenism is well documented in the annals of the National Ecumenical Commission and as Episcopal Vicar for Ecumenism he left his mark on Glasgow. His affable relationship with leading figures in all Christian Churches proved invaluable on the occasion of the visit of Pope John Paul II to Scotland and allowed him to play a significant part in arranging their historic meeting with the Pope in Edinburgh.

Hugh's first strictly pastoral appointment was as assistant priest in St. Margaret's, Stanley Street, Glasgow where he remained for almost six years, from 1967-73. Then came his first and only appointment as Parish Priest to St. Michael's, Dumbarton where he was to remain for the rest of his life, some fifteen years. During those years he addressed himself with enthusiasm to every aspect of parochial life. The detachment which had been so much part of his academic life now gave way to total involvement in the concerns of the people entrusted to his pastoral care. The worthy celebration of the sacraments and good liturgical practice were a major concern. Although he himself never made any claim to great musical talent, the installation of a fine pipe organ in St. Michael's reflects his concern to promote the best standard possible and to encourage others to do likewise. The response of the entire community of St. Michael's to his untimely death and their prayers and obvious concern during his long illness are a measure of the genuine love and affection they had for their parish priest.

Over the years Hugh collected an excellent library which is a monument to the width of his intellectual and pastoral interests. He was never extravagant and chose each volume with care and greatly cherished them. The fact that his library has been bequeathed to Pluscarden Abbey intact is a further example of his sensitivity to serious scholarship and of his generosity of spirit. Hugh grew up in Holy Cross parish in Glasgow where he came under the benign if stern influence of his Parish Priest Bishop Henry Grey Graham. His respect for the Bishop was quite boundless and he was quick to acknowledge his debt to him for his interest in Scottish history. Hugh's biography of Bishop Graham was a classic but the time needed for such meticulous research was simply not available to him in the pastoral ministry. When confronted with any evidence of shallow scholarship he would say, Timeo lectorem unius libri, how much he feared the man who had read only one book!

When the history of the Catholic Church in Scotland during the 20th century comes to be written Hugh McEwan will claim a place of honour among those who have served the Church well. His calm resignation to the will of God when it became clear that there was little hope of recovery of his health was the final testimony to a life of faith. His younger brother Father Dan McEwan predeceased him by a matter of days. In his panegyric, delivered in St. Michael's, filled to capacity with clergy and laity, the Archbishop of Glasgow extended the sympathy of the entire archdiocese to their sister Theresa on the loss of her two brothers. It is not given to many families to make such a generous gift to the Church.

May they rest in peace.

A CHALLENGE FOR THE '90s

A Message to the Scottish Catholic Community from their Bishops

January 1st, 1990 is more than the beginning of a new year; it is the start of the last decade of the 20th Century.

Already many people regard these next ten years as particularly significant for the human family.

As Christians, we have a distinctive vision of the future. We know the kind of world we would like to see ten years from now:

—a world peaceful and prosperous, where God is not sidelined, where human dignity is everywhere respected.

We want our Church to be what Jesus Christ intends it to be:

—a transforming force in society;

—truly a sign and instrument of the union of all people with God and with each other.

A Decade of Evangelisation

Pope John Paul II has already designated the '90s as "a decade of evangelisation".

He asks us to prepare to celebrate the 2000th Anniversary of the coming of Jesus Christ with a world-wide return to our Lord's teaching.

"Evangelisation" means spreading the Good News of Jesus Christ to every level of our life and to the whole human family, to transform that family from within and, with the help of the Holy Spirit, to make it new again.

This work of evangelisation was described by Pope Paul VI as "the essential mission of the Church . . . her deepest identity." (Evangelii nuntiandi 14).

As we stand at the threshold of the '90s, so rich in promise, we, your bishops, want you to know that we are pledging ourselves now to a national commitment to evangelisation during these ten years. We invite you, our clergy and laity, to join us in this new initiative and we want to share with you some specific objectives to be achieved together.

THE 5 OBJECTIVES

From listening to you during the '80s, we find that the following figure highly amongst our greatest common concerns.

1. A Church in the Heart of the World

As disciples of Christ, we are called to identify with the 'joys and the hopes, the griefs and the anxieties of the people of our age'. (Gaudium et spes 1)
We therefore re-affirm our determination to be a Church in the heart of the world.

With your help we will discover ways of being more aware of social needs abroad and at home. We wish also to become a more prophetic Church through greater involvement in the moral and social issues of the '90s and our work for justice and peace will be by meeting needs with concrete projects. To proclaim "good news to the poor and freedom for captives", is to be in the heart of the world.

2. A Church of Community

The Holy Spirit is moving the whole Church to respond to the signs of our times. We have to become more a Church of communion and participation with every member sharing responsibility for what the Church is and does.

We aim to be a more open Church, humble and compassionate, a Church where we relate to one another as sisters and brothers.

There are implications here for each one of us.

- For the clergy: to be courageous leaders and to provide opportunities for lay leadership in our parish communities.
- For the laity: to share responsibility and to serve others with the gifts God has given them.

We have to work together to make our parishes more vibrant Christian communities, active in every sphere of life, celebrating their liturgy with fruitful participation; people committed to the spirit of the Gospel.

3. Promotion of Family Life.

The family is the basic unit of society. Unfortunately, families are struggling to cope with the strain of the roaring current of change, a current which has already over-turned many of our basic moral values. We will encourage families to live their Christian vocation and support them with specific renewal projects.

We aim also to deepen the formation of our young people especially in their preparation for marriage and we will give attention to the Christian education of our children to meet the needs of the decade.

As the science of genetics assumes bolder proportions, the Church—and that is every member—will have to harness the growing support of the general public to uphold the sacredness and dignity of all human life.

4. Christian Unity

1990 will see the Catholic Church in Scotland taking its place as a full member of new ecumenical initiatives for Christian Unity.

We wish you to know that we are wholeheartedly committed to the project known as ACTS (Action of Churches Together in Scotland).

We encourage more united action especially in the local community.

At all levels we have to grow closer in mind and heart to other Christians, by sharing activities where possible.

5. Personal Commitment to Christ

If we are to evangelise others, we ourselves have to experience what it means to be evangelised; to be committed to Christ's values as a way of life. Today all over Scotland there are more opportunities than ever for us; such as pastoral renewal plans, retreat centres, days or evenings of recollection at parish level, prayer groups, charismatic meetings, celebrations of reconciliation, parish liturgy groups, the R.C.I.A. process, adult formation programmes, to name only some.

We are encouraged by these initiatives and we in turn encourage you to find time to experience the richness of prayer and the joy of deepening your faith and sharing it with others.

Conclusion

There are many other areas we could mention but we highlight these five objectives as the most urgent, confident that others will emerge locally which you may wish to include in your plans.

Each bishop with his clergy and laity will devise ways to achieve these goals in keeping with his diocesan process of pastoral renewal.

We will learn from each other and in the years ahead we will come together as Church to evaluate, support and move forward nationally.

The present thrust towards conversion and renewal owes much to the Holy Father's visit to Scotland in 1982. The day he left these islands his parting message was:

"As long as the memory of this visit lasts, may it be recorded that I, John Paul II, came to Britain to call you to Christ, to invite you to pray".

(ADDRESS AT CARDIFF, JUNE 2, 1982)

May history also record that this decade now beginning marked a new era of growth for the Catholic community in Scotland.

40th Anniversary of St. James', Paisley

Bishop John Mone of Paisley was accorded a very hearty welcome when he paid his first official visit to St. James's Church, Paisley, to mark the 40th anniversary of the founding of the parish. About thirty priests joined him in a Mass of Thanksgiving led by Father Patrick J. Crean, parish priest of St. James's since 1980. Flags and decorations abounded inside and outside the church. A large '40' hung from above the altar and there was a colourful display of flowers throughout the church.

In his homily the Bishop traced the beginnings of the parish, its dedication to the Apostle, St. James the Great, dating in Paisley from the House of Stewart and recalled with St. James's Park, St. James's Bridge, St. James's Station, St. James's Street. He recalled the beginnings of the parish when it was served for almost 50 years from St. Mirin's and then in 1948 had its first parish priest, Father Michael McNicholas who, said Bishop Mone, served in his own native parish of Holy Cross, Glasgow, when he was a boy. He mentioned his successors, Father Richard Fennessy, Father Henry Mooney, Father Thomas Hearty and the present incumbent, Father Patrick Crean. He thanked in particular the priests who served in the parish and the good people for their faith and devotion despite depopulation of the area which had reduced the population of the parish from 3,000 to about 1,000 today.

The combined choir of St. Mirin's—St. Margaret's and St. James's Primary was under the direction of Mr. John Clews, assistant of St. Mirin's—St. Margaret's with Mrs. Sandra Carrey as the organist. Among the several items in the offertory procession were the ciborium once presented to St. Mirin's about 90 years ago and later given to St. James's and the first notice book of the parish. The Sisters Faithful Companions of Jesus who served in the parish since its foundation were in the front pews and were given special mention by Father Crean in his message of thanks at the end of Mass.

Papal Honour for Dundee Man

For his long-serving devotion to his Parish, eighty-year old Jim Lynch was presented with the Papal Bene Merenti medal by Bishop Logan. Jim has lived in the Parish of the Immaculate Conception, Lochee, since boyhood. For thirty years he was president of the C.Y.M.S. for twenty years president of the S.V.D.P. and is still an active member. Still serving Mass, Jim is also a Special Minister of Holy Communion and was a passkeeper for over fifty years. So it was before a proud congregation and in the presence of his family that Bishop Logan presented Jim with his Papal Medal at a Concelebrated mass with Mgr. John Hanlon Parish priest of St. Mary's Lochee. A well deserved honour.

Motherwell Diocesan Pilgrimage to Carfin Diocesan Closing of the Marian Year

As it began, so did the Motherwell Diocesan celebration of the Marian Year end, with the Annual Diocesan Pilgrimage to Carfin.

Numbers equally as large as those that gathered for the formal launch of the Marian Year came together from all parts of the diocese for the diocesan closure of the year. The weather was kind, too, to the hundreds of first communicants who came with families and friends to play a special part in this year's pilgrimage.

The format of the pilgrimage was devised and presented by the Diocesan Marian Year Committee, the music provided and led by Taylor High School, New Stevenston. The homily was given by Father Thomas Gault, Diocesan Chancellor, who spoke of the role of Mary as the patroness of the diocese, especially as the diocese prepared to launch the Renew Process for the years to come.

Collegiate Church Mass

It was truly an historic occasion that afternoon when Mass was offered in the ruins of the Collegiate Church, Lochwinnoch, by Bishop Mone of Paisley. Four priests concelebrated Mass and two were natives of the parish—Father Patrick and Father Billy McDonald of the Mill Hill Fathers. The others were Father Bernard J. Canning, Howwood and Father Thomas Nolan, St. Mirin's Cathedral, Paisley. The M.C. was Father Thomas J. Monaghan, diocesan secretary. It was the first Mass offered there in over 300 years since it was last offered by St. John Ogilvie months before he was hanged at Glasgow Cross, 10th March, 1615.

The Mass had a distinct flavour of the past. A portrait and life of St. John Ogilvie with elements of the old Latin Mass of the 17th century were in the offertory procession led by the young and the old of the combined parish of Howwood and Lochwinnoch. The music was also of the past and the present with Latin, Greek and English and led by Mr. Jim McDonald, organist, Lochwinnoch, and Mr. Donald McEachern, organist, Howwood and a combined choir of Lochwinnoch and Howwood.

The homily was given by Father Bernard J. Canning, Howwood. Using the opening words of the Mass' first reading from Ezekiel 2,2: The spirit came into me, and made me stand up and I heard the Lord speaking to me, he contrasted the 17th century of John Ogilvie with the 20th century and his efforts in Renfrewshire which now comprises the diocese of Paisley. But, in the Song of Songs, "Winter has now passed" and the long dark night of persecution has ended. John Ogilvie has a challenge and he met it with his blood.

R.C.I.A. Summer School

This was the first national summer school to be held in Scotland on the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults. It was organised by the Scottish National Liturgy Commission and held in St. Andrew's College of Education, Bearsden. Over 300 people attended from all parts of Scotland, the great majority being parish representatives. The aim was to give participants not only information about R.C.I.A. but to try to enable them to experience something of the process. The five days were enjoyed by the participants, not least because of the sense of community that quickly grew up, strangers soon becoming friends and becoming aware of a real 'communio' among them.

The climax of the annual walk from Carfin to Whithorn took place this evening with Mass in the crypt of Whithorn Priory. Most of the pilgrims were young adults and most were Scots, but not all. Dunkeld Diocesan Lourdes Pilgrimage

For many people from all over the diocese, young and old, sick or able bodied, the annual Diocesan Pilgrimage to Lourdes has become the highlight of the year. This year many different groups from various parishes foregathered in the Marian Shrine for a super pilgrimage. Led by Bishop Logan with chaplain Father Pat McNally, and organised now for many years by Betty Docherty was the main diocesan group with Brother Dougals and our young handicapped group. Travelling overland in two distinctively marked Scottish buses came the Dunkeld Youth Service to carry out their hardworking tasks of pushing wheelchairs and serving in the hospitals. In Lourdes at various stages pilgrims from other Dunkeld parishes met up: a group from St. Pius X, a group from St. Mary's, Lochee, visiting the shrines of France and two Jumbulances from Blairgowrie with twenty sick pilgrims, four nurses and a doctor and twenty-one helpers. Sadly one of the sick pilgrims from the Jumbulance party became ill and died in Lourdes, Mrs. Agnes Wynn. May she rest in peace.

Wednesday, 3rd August, 1988Flourish* Expresses Fears for Ravenscraig

Fears for the future of Ravenscraig Steelworks were voiced today in an editorial comment in Flourish, the official newspaper of the Archdiocese of Glasgow, which was widely publicised throughout the Scottish media.

Commenting on the running down of the Scottish steel industry, the editor said:

“For far too long we have seen the steady undermining of the morale of a community which has proven itself to be industrious and not workshy.”

Voicing concern about the ripple effect of unemployment in the West of Scotland were Ravenscraig to close, Flourish called on the Government to invest in the plant.

Sunday, 11th-Sunday, 18th September, 1988Vocations Awareness Week in Dunkeld

Top marks to the Diocesan Vocations Team who masterminded Dunkeld's Vocations Awareness week. Targeting Dundee, Perth and Alloa, many of the religious brothers, sisters and priests led a double life as they promoted their vocation to school children, young adults and the wider church. Many of the religious orders who took part in the week had to sacrifice key personnel from their work of visiting the sick, helping the homeless, teaching, working in the Missions, running parishes, giving retreats and carrying out pastoral and social care. Their efforts were greatly rewarded as they answered questions posed by the crowds who attend these events and prayer-meetings. Pamphlets, videos, photographs and above all personal witness were all in demand. Thursday of that week marked the high point with the annual Vocations Mass in the Cathedral, with a large number of priests concelebrating with Bishop Logan including the national Vocations Director Father McLean and our own Diocesan Vocations Director, Father Harty of Montrose.

Vocations Awareness Week, 1988Poster Competition

A one-off event organised by the Motherwell Diocesan Vocations Commission helped contribute to raise Vocations Awareness in the local primary schools of the diocese. As part of Vocations Awareness Week, a poster competition was held, open to all primary schools to involve the very young in vocations awareness.

An excellent response came from all primary schools in the Diocese eventually producing winners from Coatbridge, Hamilton, Motherwell and Uddingston.

Sunday, 18th September, 1988Deaf Choirs Dundee Date

Choirs of deaf people from all over Scotland gathered in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Dundee, on Sunday, 18th September, for a Festival of Deaf Choirs. Many churches and organisations have responded to the need to train choirs able to carry their singing to deaf people. The use of sign language during the singing of hymns is a beautiful and moving sight. Bishop Vincent Logan welcomed the choirs during the special service of prayer and praise in the Cathedral. It was the first time it was held in Dundee Cathedral. In his sermon, interpreted into sign language, Bishop Logan praised the deaf choirs for their work in spreading the Gospel.

Sunday, 18th September, 1988Diocesan Launch of Renew

Motherwell became the latest Diocese in Scotland to launch the Renew Process on the afternoon of Sunday, 18th September

The cathedral was packed to overflow point with parish representatives from all parishes that elected to be part of the Renew Process, joining Bishop Devine and more than sixty priests of the diocese for Mass to celebrate the formal launch of Renew.

In his homily, Bishop Devine encouraged all participants in the diocese to launch their increasing commitment to Christ as part of the community that is the Church today. This would allow all in the diocese, he said, "truly to work together for Christ in Renewing Motherwell."

As a sign of the parishes' commitment to the Renew Process, the Bishop was presented with a scroll of commitment from a representative of each parish at the end of the Mass.

Father James Birrell and his small congregation were complimented on their achievement. The church had been formed from a former bakehouse and shop and few would have believed a few months previously that so complete a transformation could be effected.

In his dedication address Bishop Conti briefly traced the early history of Christianity in Scotland through St. Ninian, St. Columba and St. Maelrubha, after whom, he said, he had rather hoped the church might have been named; however, the congregation had opted for St. Martin.

After the Mass and dedication the congregation and guests went to the Frigate Restaurant in Shore Street, where they enjoyed an excellent tea and a special celebration cake.

Dunkeld Diocesan Launch of Renew

Renew was well and truly launched in the Diocese of Dunkeld in an outstanding event in the Caird Hall, Dundee. One of the remarkable features of the day was the large number of people who came from parishes from the furthest parts of the far-flung diocese. A great deal of preparation went into planning this joyful and hope-filled event. Pupils from the diocese's four secondary schools opened with musical items. They were followed by the youth carrying soil from their own parishes which was placed in a tub containing the Renew tree. A running commentary was given by Lt-Col. Denis Naulty from St. Columba's parish, Kirkton. St. Saviour's High School sang the Renew song which pupils from their school had composed. Members of Renew teams from all the parishes processed into the huge hall with their colourful banners. During the Mass the sermon was given by Archbishop Winning from Glasgow and the Archbishop of St. Andrews and Edinburgh was also present in the sanctuary.

Friday, 14th October, 1988New Windows for Howwood Church

To mark the forthcoming diamond jubilee of the Church of Christ the King, Howwood, three new windows have been executed by Mr. Edward Harknes of Gourrock Glazing plc, Gourrock.

The three windows depict St. Columba, one of the great apostles of Scotland, St. Mirin, patron of Paisley and of Paisley diocese on the left and on the right St. John Ogilvie who offered Mass in the combined parish of Howwood and Lochwinnoch at the Collegiate Church shortly before his execution in 1615.

The windows also show the Pontifical arms of Pius XI who declared John Ogilvie 'Blessed' and was Pope when the Howwood church was formally opened in December 1928. Over the head of St. Columba—designed to a great extent from Derry Columbkille published and written by Father William Doherty in 1899 on occasion of the 1300th anniversary of Columba's death in 1897—are the arms of John Paul II, the present Holy Father. St. Mirin is led by the arms of Bishop Stephen McGill who recently retired as Bishop of Paisley and at its feet the arms of the new Bishop of the see, Bishop John Mone with its challenging motto: To lead in love.

St. John Ogilvie is shown as at the gallows at Glasgow Cross with a rope hanging from his neck and in his hands a large rosary. Pius XI said he had died as a martyr for the Papacy in Scotland. St. Mirin shows him preaching with a monastic tonsure preaching with a cross in his hands in Paisley in A.D. 585.

A native of Greenock Mr. Harknes first served with Rae and Starter Caithness, Glazing Contractors, Greenock. He did a period with the Benedictines at Pluscarden Abbey for about twelve years mainly with Gourrock-born Father Ninian. His main works were at the Episcopal Cathedral, Inverness and his main windows at St. Margaret's, Johnstone, St. Ninian's, Gourrock, and St. John's, Port Glasgow.

Galloway Renew, Season 5

The process of pastoral renewal called "Renew", which the diocese of Galloway has been following for the past two and a half years, entered its final six-weeks season today. Sunday, 6th November, 1988Dedication of St. Leonard's Church, East Kilbride

The parish of St. Leonard's—in the district of the same name in East Kilbride—came together on the evening of Sunday, 6th November, for the solemn dedication of its church by Bishop Joseph Devine of Motherwell. The bishop joined the priests and people of the community along with many former priests who had served at the parish for the concelebrated dedication Mass.

The occasion marked the 18th anniversary of the opening of the church and, as parish priest Father John Givens took pains to remind the parish, the 1,429th of the death of its patron St. Leonard!

In his homily, Bishop Devine took the opportunity to use the theme of that Sunday of Renew and the call to the parish to be Church today. That call was a challenge to the parish community of St. Leonard's to go forward dedicated in the future and renewed in their task of serving the church today.

November Mass in St. Conval's Cemetery, Barrhead

Over 3,000 people attended the annual Mass at St. Conval's Cemetery, Barrhead, for those buried there—bishops, priests, religious and laity. An estimated 2,000-plus received Holy Communion. Ten priests led by Father William Crawford concelebrated the Mass. It was his last Mass as director of the cemetery, a post he had held for about fifteen years.

Among the many things he did at the cemetery was the introduction, in 1975, of Mass there twice a year. He carried out extensive renovations in the grounds.

Overlooking the specially constructed temporary altar located in the centre of the cemetery was a large iron crucifix installed by Father Crawford a few years ago.

At the end of Mass Father Brendan Healy, St. Conval's, Linwood, expressed thanks to Father Crawford for the work he has done at the cemetery. Then introduced to the vast congregation was Father Crawford's successor, Father Neil Duffin, Our Holy Redeemer's, Elderslie, appointed by Bishop John Mone of Paisley.

Silver Jubilee of Three Schools in Motherwell Diocese

November 1988 proved to be truly a "silver" month for three school communities of the Diocese of Motherwell. 7th November, 1988, St. Aidan's High School community marked the 25th anniversary with a concelebrated Mass of Thanksgiving in St. Aidan's Church, Wishaw, celebrated by Bishop Joseph Devine and many priests closely associated with St. Aidan's School over its 25 years. Also concelebrating the Mass was Archbishop Leonard Faulkner of the Archdiocese of Adelaide, Australia, as a guest of Bishop Devine.

After the Mass more than 300 people attended a reception in the school hall where head teacher Miss Rosemary McDonald was able to thank all involved in the Silver Jubilee celebrations.

On Friday, 18th November, 1988, St. Aidan's Primary School, Wishaw, was able to celebrate its Silver Jubilee with a Mass of Thanksgiving celebrated by Bishop Devine and the priests of St. Aidan's parish.

On that same evening, staff, pupils, parents and friends of St. Columba's Primary School, Viewpark, concluded a week of celebrations marking the school's Silver Jubilee.

Bishop Devine joined the priest and the school community for the Silver Jubilee Mass of Thanksgiving.

Dedication of Good Shepherd School, Ayr

The Cathedral parish primary school, Ayr, has changed both its name and its location. Formerly St. Catherine's school in old and run-down premises, it has become Good Shepherd Primary School housed in an empty wing of Mainholm Academy. Today the school was blessed and dedicated. The staff and pupils of Mainholm Academy have greatly assisted in making the transfer an easy one to carry out and the signs are good for a friendly relationship between the non-denominational secondary school and the Catholic primary.

Amalgamations of Aberdeen Parishes

Bishop Mario Conti of Aberdeen published a Pastoral Letter in which he announced amalgamations affecting eight parishes. He points out that the amalgamation of parishes does not necessarily mean the loss of their own identity in new administrative units. "Geography and history both have their influence in moulding local communities of faith, and may continue to do so". He adds this rider: "while the changes . . . may suggest a depletion in terms of both priests and services, they also offer a challenge to us to maximise the use of those ministries which assist and complement those of the priest, and add other forms of worship and devotion to the celebration of the Mass . . . The continued growth of lay ministries is a feature of the Church today, bringing its own richness to our parishes."

The feast of St. Andrew, 1988, was the occasion of the formal opening of the new St. Andrew's Hospice in Airdrie by the Duchess of Norfolk.

This formal opening was the combination of many months and years of effort by all sectors of the Airdrie community to provide and support St. Andrew's Hospice. The Duchess was welcomed by the matron, Sr. Barbara Kenny, and met members of the board of management and the appeals committee, as well as Hospice chaplain Father Dominic Douglas, before touring the wards to meet staff and patients.

It was a major civic and ecumenical occasion, with the Duchess meeting Monklands M.P. Tom Clarke, Provost Edward Cairns of Monklands, assistant Chief Constable John Dickson of Strathclyde Police, Bishop Joseph Devine of Motherwell, and other religious and civic leaders.

St. Andrew's Hospice is run by the Sisters of Charity who formerly operated Assumption House in Airdrie. At present it caters for 5 terminally ill patients and also has a geriatric wing with 20 resident patients. Future funding hopes to increase the facilities available and also provide increased hospice care for terminally ill patients.

Diamond Jubilee of Howwood Church

The combined parish of Howwood and Lochwinnoch celebrated the diamond jubilee of the Church of Christ the King, Howwood. Bishop John Mone of Paisley was principal celebrant of the Mass of Thanksgiving. The thirty concelebrants included Bishop Stephen McGill and two former parish priests of the parish Father Felix Connolly who served for twelve years and Father William Diamond. Bishop Mone gave the homily covering the past sixty years and the efforts, faith and sacrifices of past generations who made the church possible. He praised the present generation for their faith and generosity to the parish continuing the tradition of their forefathers.

After his homily he formally blessed the new windows of St. Columba, St. Mirin and St. John Ogilvie, and unveiled a plaque over the foundation stone and re-dedicated it. He sealed it with the old coins which were put in it over sixty years ago together with 1988 coins and the Scottish Catholic Observer, Paisley Daily Express, Paisley and Renfrewshire Gazette, Greenock Telegraph, the document of the actual installation of 1928 and the names of the parishioners of that day and those of 1988.

He then proceeded to unveil a plaque recording the work done by Canon Aloysius Reifenrath, St. Margaret's, Johnstone, who built the church, and the names of the nine parish priests who served in the parish.

At the conclusion of the Mass Bishop Mone and Bishop McGill were presented by the parishioners with a commemorative decanter bearing their coats of arms and an image of the two churches of Howwood and Lochwinnoch. Afterwards there was a reception in the presbytery and the hall. The hall had been used for the overflow congregation which had been provided with a television relay. The evening ended at St. Anthony's Church hall, Spateston, with a social function.

Wednesday, 21st December, 1988Lockerbie

The word 'Lockerbie' says it all. The quiet town became a household name all over the world as the wreckage of Pan Am flight 103 crashed on the town and surrounding area a few minutes after seven o'clock that evening. In all 270 people perished, 259 on the aircraft and 11 in Lockerbie.

A major part of the wreckage fell on Sherwood Crescent, the street where the eleven victims lived and where the priest's house is. In fact the crater was only about one hundred metres from the presbytery and all houses between (as well as others further away) were either destroyed or damaged beyond repair.

The presbytery was damaged by debris and burning fuel, but not so badly as to require demolition. Father Patrick Keegans was in the house (with his mother) when the disaster occurred. He escaped injury and, in the aftermath of the disaster, was very much involved in rescue work and counselling. Of the eleven Lockerbie people killed, seven were parishioners.

Bishop Maurice Taylor joined the local community for Midnight Mass and Mass on Christmas morning in Holy Trinity church. He returned the following day for a Mass for all the victims of the disaster. Already the first relatives of those killed in the tragedy had arrived in the town from the United States and some were present at these Masses.

On Wednesday, 4th January a service of remembrance for the victims was held in Dryfesdale Parish Church in Lockerbie. The service was led by the local clergy (including Father Keegans) and the sermon was given by the Right Reverend James Whyte, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. Archbishop Thomas J. Winning and Bishop Taylor were among those attending.

Aberdeen Pastoral on Christifideles laici

In a Pastoral Letter, Bishop Conti of Aberdeen welcomes the Holy Father's Apostolic Exhortation, Christifideles laici and finds in it powerful backing for the course on which the diocese is launched. In particular he points to the need to "rediscover the true meaning of the parish, that is, the place where the very 'mystery' of the Church is present and at work, even if at times it is lacking persons and means, even if at times it might be scattered over vast territories..."

The Holy Father's call for "a greater effort in their renewal" so that they may become "truly communities of Christians" adds further confirmation, in the Bishop's view, to the requirement that each parish in the diocese have a pastoral council in which the Call to Holiness and the Call to Mission "can be discussed, meditated upon, and translated into action".

And the concluding section of the Exhortation which focuses on "a total and ongoing formation of the lay faithful" will help to give direction to the Priests' Conference already scheduled to take place at the beginning of April. Even the image of the vine and the Branches repeats what has already been presented to the diocese as its Gospel inspiration.

Centenary Celebrations of Our Lady of Perpetual Succour and St. Cumin, Morar

The celebrations marking the centenary of Our Lady of Perpetual Succour and St. Cumin's Church, Morar, commenced on Sunday, 7th May, with Confirmation by Bishop Colin MacPherson of thirty-one children from the joint parishes of Morar and Mallaig. After Mass, the congregation, led by Mr. Archie McLellan bearing the Celtic-design Processional Cross gifted by the people of Nova Scotia, descendants of those who left the Morar District two centuries ago, proceeded to the Morar Cross for a Benediction service. The Cross, on a prominent hill overlooking the village, was erected in 1889 to mark the first mission to the new church.

Monday, 8th May. Parishioners joined the Bishop and clergy at Kilfinnan, near Fort Augustus, for a service at the grave of Bishop Hugh MacDonald of Morar, the first Gaelic-speaking priest to receive his entire training in Scotland, and the first Bishop of the Highland Vicariate created in 1731. He reopened the seminary on Eilean Ban, a small island on Loch Morar, in 1732. He became a fugitive and was banished from Scotland after Culloden in 1746, but returned to minister to his vicariate until he died in 1773 still a fugitive.

Tuesday, 9th May. Visits arranged to Eilean Ban, the cradle of Catholicism in the Western Highlands through the Penal times when the Faith, its teaching and worship was proscribed in Scotland.

In the evening, an open-air Mass celebrated by Monsignor E. MacInnes, parish priest of Morar, Monsignor T. Wynne, Arisaig, and Father O'Brien, East Calder, at the ruins of the 'Long Church' at Inbhir-Beag, Bracarina. This was the 'base' for the 'travelling priest' who had to cover the extensive area of remote settlements in North Morar, South Morar as far as Loch Arkaig and assist at Knoydart. Monsignor MacInnes wore the 1745 vestments, relics of the '45 Rebellion, for Mass and used the 1658 chalice of Father Vincent Morrison, a missionary in Morar during that time. The vestments and chalice are preserved in Morar church.

Wednesday, 10th May, was the major event of Rededication of St. Cumin's church. The church was built by Lady Lovat in 1889 in memory of her husband, Lord Lovat, who died before his wish to build the new church was fulfilled. Bishop MacPherson was the principal celebrant, with thirteen priests concelebrating—Monsignor E. MacInnes, Monsignor T. Wynne, Canon John Morrison, retired, Fort William, Canon J. MacNeil, Fort William, Canon A. J. MacQueen, Bornish, Canon Joseph Terry, Glenfinnan, Canon Roderick Macdonald, Dunoon, Father John A. Galbraith, Oban, Father E. Murphy, Lochgilphead, Father Eamon O'Brien, East Calder, Father Roderick Wright, Corpach, Father M. Lea, Kingussie, Father G. Hassay, S.J., Nairn.

The bishop welcoming Lord and Lady Lovat and the people of Morar told them that the special day of rededication of the church was important, but it was more important that they should remember the endurance of those who went before them, whose faith had survived the hardships of persecution in the difficult era of the Penal Laws.

Canon Macdonald spoke in similar vein of the faith of their ancestors that had sustained it so strongly, and he asked the people to renew the faith in their own lives today.

A commemorative book 'Blessed Morar' to mark the centenary was produced by Paul Galbraith, a parishioner of Morar; and it gives the history of North Morar, the seminaries in the district, and the clergy over the last 300 years. Appendices giving lists of marriages and births in North Morar in the mid-19th century, were included to give some idea of the distribution of population in the remote settlements before the development of Mallaig as a fishing port and the arrival of the railway.

Saturday, 9th August. Bishop Colin Campbell, Antigonish, Father Vernon Cameron-Boutilier, Mabou, Father Angus Rankin, Glendale, Inverness County, Nova Scotia, and Monsignor E. Centenary of the Paisley Faithful Companions

St. Mirin's Cathedral, Paisley, had a capacity congregation for a Mass of Thanksgiving marking the centenary of the coming of the Faithful Companions of Jesus to Paisley. Bishop Emeritus Stephen McGill and about fifty priests joined in the concelebrated Mass with Bishop Mone of Paisley Diocese as principal celebrant. Religious orders of Paisley diocese and elsewhere were among the many former pupils of the Faithful Companions in the congregation. The diocesan master of ceremonies was Father David Boyd, St. Patrick's Greenock.

A choir of young people aided by Father Denis Carlin, Chesters College, with Mrs. Mary Stevenson at the organ, led the music assisted by students of Chesters College. A Faithful Companion gave the Scripture Readings followed by three F.C.J's., who sang the Responsorial Psalm and the Alleluia verse.

Bishop John Mone welcomed the vast congregation to the Mass mentioning Provost George Murray of Renfrew and his wife; the representatives of the various Churches and the Education Authority. In his homily he said it was impossible to cover adequately the full story and history of the Faithful Companions of Jesus in Paisley because of their total dedication to the Lord and the people they have served in that 100 years. They were invited by Canon William Chisholm to St. Mirin's and within twenty years they were responsible for the education of over 3,000 children in six parish schools. They had arrived with a hamper of food for a week implying that they might not stay but stay they did. He thanked them for what they did in Paisley and district. Names did occur such as Sister Mary Patrick (O'Brien) head teacher of St. Margaret's for over thirty-one years and Sister Mary Veronica (Neylon) head teacher of St. Mary's School for almost twenty years and lived until she was 105.

All entering St. Mirin's Cathedral were provided with a sixteen page history of the F.C.J's in Paisley written by Sister Mary Clare (Holland) former head teacher of St. James' High School, Paisley, now retired but archivist of the congregation. Before the offertory Father Andrew Carroll of St. Vincent's Centre, Langbank, introduced twenty-four young people of a new Young Adult Ministry Programme undertaken by the Faithful Companions.

After Mass there was a formal reception in Paisley Town Hall. There was a large exhibition of photographs and charts of the F.C.J's. in Paisley over the past 100 years.

Thursday, 11th May, 1989 Schools Mass in Dundee

St. Columba's High School, Perth, was the host school and provided the beautiful music and singing for the annual Schools Mass in St. Andrew's Cathedral Dundee.

Saturday, 13th May, 1989 History at Haddington

This year's Haddington Ecumenical Pilgrimage, attended by more than 2,000 people, was notable for two forms of Eucharistic celebration coinciding in the historic St. Mary's Parish Church.

While Archbishop Keith Patrick O'Brien was saying the words of Consecration at one end of the church, the Rev. Alexander Macdonnell, at the other end, was reciting the Commemorative words of the Church of Scotland for the Presbyterians gathered around him.

Later in the day an Episcopal Eucharist service was held, before the joint blessing of the sick, and the Final Ecumenical Act of the Pilgrimage Prayer for Unity.

Sunday, 14th May, 1989Joy of Pentecost

The joy of Pentecost was greatly enhanced for the eighty-three persons received into the Catholic Church this year, within the Archdiocese of St. Andrews and Edinburgh, under the R.C.I.A. programme, when they were guests at a reception, with sponsors and godparents, in Archbishop's House in Edinburgh.

Later, the 200 strong party attended mass in Gillis College Chapel, with Cardinal Gordon Gray presiding, and Archbishop Keith O'Brien, Canon James Rae and eight other priests concelebrating.

Sunday, 14th May, 1989Neophytes' Mass

On Pentecost Sunday, the diocese of Galloway celebrated Mass for the neophytes who, in various parishes of the diocese, had received the sacraments of initiation at the Easter Vigil and had been received into full communion with the Catholic Church. The bishop welcomed back to the cathedral those who had been enrolled into the elect three months earlier, congratulated them and urged them to take their full active part now in the life of the Church, using the gifts of the Spirit they had received.

Sunday, 21st May, 1989National Pilgrimage to Carfin in Honour of St. John Ogilvie

Bright sun greeted the Annual National Pilgrimage to Carfin this year in honour of St. John Ogilvie on the afternoon of Sunday, 21st May,

Archbishop Thomas Winning of Glasgow was the principal celebrant of the Mass joined by bishops, priests and laity from far and near. Father Michael Kyne, S.J., Superior of Craighead Retreat Centre, gave the homily and he spoke movingly of the life and witness of St. John Ogilvie in his own time and for us in our time today.

The Mass was celebrated for the first time at Carfin in the newly erected glass chapel acquired for the Grotto from the site of the 1988 Glasgow Garden Festival. While work was yet to be completed on the chapel and its location, it proved to be a most successful venture and the new chapel will surely be a credit to Carfin in the years to come.

John Paul II "I intend to entrust a special mandate to the Pontifical Mission Societies to keep Mission Awareness alive in the People of God."

Society for Propagation of the Faith

This Society provides each missionary bishop with a basic grant to run his diocese and special grants to build churches, schools and hospitals and pay his catechists and teachers.

Society of St. Peter, Apostle

This Society builds seminaries and novitiates in mission lands and subsidises the education of each student.

Society for Missionary Children

Through this Society our young mission aware people are encouraged to help children in need in the many hospitals, clinic, schools, nurseries and refugee camps administered by the Church in mission lands.

These three Societies cover every aspect of missionary life and provide an ideal source from which to 'Help the Missions'.

ST. JOSEPH'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ST. JOSEPH'S

Cardinal Vaughan always said it was St. Joseph and not himself who was the Society's 'Father and Founder'.

MISSIONARY

From the start at Mill Hill, London, in 1866 St. Joseph's Missionaries were inspired by Joseph's quiet but essential role in God's plan of salvation. Joseph 'took the Child and his mother' into the pagan land of Egypt.

SOCIETY

- In 1987-88 five young Scots were ordained Mill Hill Missionary Priests and have been appointed to work in Sudan, Kenya, Pakistan and Cameroon. They are part of an international fellowship of Priests, Brothers and Lay Missionaries who seek to bring the Good News of Jesus to people in the most deprived parts of the world.
- For over 100 years the Catholics of Scotland have encouraged young men like these in their missionary vocations and given assistance to our missionaries working in many places in Africa, Asia and Latin America.
- If you are interested in supporting our work or feel called to be a Missionary Priest, Brother or Lay Missionary write to (or phone) the Rector or Father Gerard Hamill, MHM,

St. Joseph's House,
Lourdes Avenue,
Cardonald, Glasgow. G52 3QU

Registered Adoption Society

Over 60 years serving the Church in Scotland

PREGNANCY

We offer a pregnancy counselling service to expectant mothers, whether adoption is indicated or not.

ADOPTION

We recruit and assess couples or families for children with special needs, e.g. handicapped babies, school age children, sibling groups; etc.

FOSTERING

Some children need families prepared to offer them a permanent commitment but they are not free for adoption. There is a special need for families for 10-13 year olds at present in care.

BABIES

Our lists are only open occasionally for babies except for babies with special needs, so most enquirers have to be disappointed. It is not possible to know when the list will re-open; regular written enquiry in the only possible option.

COUNSELLING

We offer confidential counselling to adoptees, adoptive parents and birth parents.

ST. FRANCIS LEPROSY GUILD

There are fifteen million leprosy sufferers in the world today but only three million of them receive treatment. The ravages of leprosy can be prevented if sufferers are treated early. Those already disabled can be given reconstructive surgery and false limbs; they can learn a trade or craft and so regain their independence and self respect. This is what St. Francis Leprosy Guild is all about. It exists to support the missionaries—priests, sisters, lay workers caring for over 200,000 victims of leprosy—men, women, children—in thirty countries round the world. Their success depends on your support.
